Nine Others Wounded as Sandino Forces Ambush
U. S. Supply Detachment
in Hills.

ATTACKERS ARMED WITH MACHINEGUNS

Rebels Driven Off After Skirmish, With Unknown Casualties; Report Made by Aviators.

Managua, Nicaragua, February 29.—(AP)—Ambushed in a mountain pass where heavy underbrush concealed the attackers, a marine patrol suffered the severest blow the corps has been dealt during the last six weeks of endeavor to pacify Nicaragua. The marine losses were five killed and seven wounded, not more than 48 hours after Augustino Sandino's band had launched their surprise attack last Monday. The names on the casualty list were unknown at marine headquarters.

Lieutenant Edward F. O'Day, who led the patrol of 36 marines conveying an unloaded pack train of 80 mules, apparently spent the night in the position from which he drove the attackers in order to treat his wounded and bury the dead.

Today, however, he was making his way slowly to Condega, carrying the injured. From that base he was expected to telegraph the first real story of the battle of Ocotal, from where it would be radioed to marine headquarters.

The sketchy facts now known here were obtained by Captain Robert J. Archibald from his plane circling over the battle scene.

Sandino apparently laid his ambush in the hope of capturing food and ammunition, but the train already had deposited its supplies at Yali and was returning to Esteli.

As soon as word of the encounter was received three detachments of marines were sent from points in the vicinity. It is known that Captain William E. McNulty of the eleventh regiment, who was on another mission with 55 men, has joined forces with Lieutenant O'Day.

Two other brushes with rebels have occurred within the past 26 hours. A patrol of six marines and nine national guardsmen drove off a band of 30 which fired on them at long range when they were about eight miles north of Telapaca. Near Jucote a plane, piloted by Lieutenant Michael Wodarczyk, with Sergeant Thomas Whitman, was fired on from a barn. The plane returned the fire and then bombed the building. What casualties were inflicted in these encounters was unknown, but the marines suffered none.

ANOTHER FORD PLANE MISSING SINCE SUNDAY

Daytona Beach, Fla., February 29.—(AP)—Watson Roberts, flying a Ford plane from Charlotte, N. C., to Daytona Beach, has not been heard of since his hop-off early Sunday morning, according to information reaching Miss Doris Munn, of this city, from the flier's mother tonight.

Mrs. Roberts in Charlotte said in a telegram that her son would have communicated with her had he been forced down en route.

The department of commerce will be solicited tomorrow for aid in searching for the plane and its pilot.

Fliers here, at Jacksonville and at Charlotte reported tonight they had no knowledge of the flight of the plane.

MEXICO PRESENTS
IMMIGRATION LAW
POSER TO SOLONS

Hearings Now On Regarding Proposed Application of Quota Law Bring Divergent Views.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.
Washington, February 29.—Of several aspects of immigration restriction about to be acute in congress, one that can be considered separately is immigration from Mexico. Because the present quota law exempts our contiguous neighbors on the North American continent, the result has been a constantly increasing immigration of Mexican laborers, partly to take the place of the European labor shut off by the quota law.

The number of Mexicans who came in during 1927 is estimated at 77,155. As to how many of these Mexicans remained and became permanent residents of the United States, there is dispute. Some official figures say that of the Mexicans entering the United States in any given year, only four per cent return home. Another set of official figures show that only 2,562 Mexicans returned to Mexico during the latter half of 1926.

As against this, the claim is hotly made that as much as 80 per cent of the Mexican labor returns to Mexico at the end of each season, and some Mexican official figures show that over 34,000 Mexicans returned during the latter half of 1926.

Various Plans.
Disputes about these figures, about the increase in the number of Mexicans living permanently in the United States and about the effect of their presence, run through the hearings now being held by the senate and house committees on agriculture. One of several proposed bills now pending would limit the immigration from Mexico in any one year to a minimum of 2,000 plus ten per cent of the number of Mexicans already in the country. This proposal, it is estimated, would admit about 7,785 Mexicans a year. A variation of this plan was a year. A variation of this plan was a year.

Washington, February 29.—(AP)—The new Franco-American arbitration treaty which includes an anti-war declaration by the two governments came out of the senate foreign relations committee unchanged today and early approval is foreshadowed.

The new treaty will replace the Root arbitration treaty which expired February 27 and will set up machinery for arbitration of all disputes that do not involve domestic questions, third parties, the Monroe doctrine or the obligations of France under the covenant of the League of Nations.

Committee approval was given after Secretary Kellogg had spent three-quarters of an hour explaining the provisions behind closed doors. To in-Washington, February 29.—(AP)—Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer of the northern Oklahoma district was accused today in a brief filed with the speaker of the house with having appropriated for his personal use liquors confiscated by federal officers, of intimidation of jurors, of lawful rights of defendants, and upwards of a score of other misdemeanors. Attached to the brief was an affidavit signed by Henry H. Stroud, of Tulsa, Okla., who said that he believed the charges to be true.

Both the brief and Stroud's affidavit were referred by Speaker Longworth without comment to the house judiciary committee for consideration, the usual procedure.

Kennamer was alleged in the brief to be guilty of conspiracy to defraud the federal government; of showing favoritism and bargaining with the agents of the law violators for a monetary exchange for leniency of sentence; of tyrannical attacks on the liberty of the press; of conduct indicating prejudice and imprisonment of a citizen without justification under the circumstances, which the brief added, constituted a flagrant violation of his oath of office.

The brief also cited what it alleged were specific instances of judicial terrorism and of alleged improper activities in enforcement of the prohibition law and of the converting of his own use of intoxicants confiscated by federal officers.

JUDGE CHARGES.
LEGISLATORS SEEK RECALL.
Tulsa, Okla., February 29.—(AP)—Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer will "welcome any investigation," he said today when informed of the charges filed against him with the speaker of the house of representatives by Henry H. Stroud, of Tulsa, Okla.

The charges were rumored a month ago, the judge had stated that "whatever move is under way for my impeachment is sponsored by those directly or indirectly interested in criminality and by the bootlegging fraternity in general."

Asked concerning the accusations as he stepped from the bench today, the judge said: "All I have to say is that I will welcome any investigation they care to make of my court."

The charges against the judge, alleging among other things intimidation of jurors and appropriation for his personal use of liquors confiscated by federal officers, were filed by Henry H. Stroud, who formerly was a department of justice agent in northern Oklahoma.

HOPE ABANDONED FOR LOST FLIERS

Aerial Searchers for Commander Ellysson and Comrades Return to Base
After Fruitless Search.

Washington, February 29.—(AP)—Hope for the rescue alive of Commander T. G. Ellysson, executive officer of the airplane carrier Lexington, and his companions, Lieutenant Commander Hugo Schmidt and Lieutenant Roger Ranshouen, wanted today among navy officials here as the third gigantic aerial searching party returned to its home stations unsuccessful.

The waters of Chesapeake bay and the coast of nearby states have been searched for the fliers who left Hampton Roads, Va., Monday morning at 2 o'clock for Annapolis. An oil slick on the waters of the bay near Horn Harbor was thought to be a trace of the fliers, but the dragging of the bottom failed to reveal whether the big amphibian plane sank there.

Irvine Hudgins, a fisherman, reported at Norfolk, Va., that he heard the motor of an airplane motor about 2:30 o'clock Monday morning, approximately three miles from where the slick was found. The motor of the plane was missing, he reported, but after passing him the engine picked up and a few minutes later the drone of the machine ceased to be heard.

Mrs. Hugo Schmidt, of Brooklyn, N. Y., wife of Lieutenant Commander Schmidt, notified the navy department that she is offering a $1,000 reward for definite information leading to the recovery of the plane or bodies of the three officers. Admiral Charles Hughes, chief of naval operations, already had offered a reward.

COMPROMISE FLOOD CONTROL MEASURE SENT TO SENATE WITH COMMITTEE APPROVAL

SELZNICK VS BARRYMORE Fist Fight Ends in Draw
Hollywood, Calif., February 29.—(United News.)—Myron Selznick, motion picture executive, admitted tonight that he and John Barrymore, the stage and screen star, had engaged in a fist fight.

The impromptu battle occurred at the Wampus frolic last Saturday night and although rumors of it had been circulated about Hollywood, it was not substantiated until Selznick made his admissions.

"Yes," Selznick said, "Barrymore and I had a fight. He made a few remarks that I considered insulting and then wanted me to go outside. 'I think the mistake I made was to say he was too old to fight.' 'He insisted on fighting me then. No, it didn't last long and no one got hurt. I'll call it about even. ATLANTA LEADERS HONOR HALLMAN Tribute to Work He Has Accomplished and Pre- sent Him With Watch.

Representative citizens of Atlanta gathered Wednesday night at the Billmore hotel to pay tribute to Henderson Hallman, to praise the work he has done for the city and to present to him a watch as a token of their esteem and as a recognition of his public services.

Mayor I. N. Ragdale, in his talk, summed up the expressions of the many other speakers by declaring that for the past twelve years at least, the biography of Henderson Hallman has been, in a sense, the history of Atlanta, and that in all that time Atlanta's business has been Hallman's business.

"I know of no man who has so thoroughly given up his own business to do anything anybody asked him to do at any time for Atlanta," he said. "And do it well. Why, I'm still receiving congratulations from persons on the splendid Lippincott reception and the only reason that I'm getting them is because I asked Henderson to handle that."

So that Mr. Hallman might know Atlanta appreciated his services, a committee headed by George West, former president of the chamber of commerce, arranged a banquet in his honor. That banquet was held Wednesday night. Feeling that in the past such affairs had been too fraught with ponderous seriousness to be other than a burden to the honor-

French Court Denies Colby Divorce Plea

Former U. S. Secretary of State Victim of New French Policy.

Paris, February 29.—(AP)—Complete defeat has attended the efforts of Bainbridge Colby, who was American secretary of state under President Wilson, to obtain a divorce in France, where so many of his lesser known compatriots have had their marital bonds easily severed in recent years.

The court's decision is the first, so far as known, rendered against a prominent American seeking a divorce here in recent years. It is interpreted by lawyers of the capital as meaning that the campaign against foreigners coming across the Atlantic and using the French courts as an easy means of getting a divorce has borne its first fruit.

The French courts could not have selected a better case for making their new position clear so far as publicity goes, for not only was the applicant a former high official in America, but his lawyer was former president of the French republic, M. Millerand.

The court's decision was based on the fact that no evidence had been presented that Mr. Colby actually had abandoned his domicile in the United States, nor that his residence in France gave any indication of being permanent. The court therefore declared itself incompetent to grant the application.

Mrs. Colby did not appear in court, nor did she, so far as is known, take the trouble to be represented. Both principals were summoned to appear on October 29, but only Mr. Colby answered the summons, which is usually the preliminary to a decree of divorce. So long as the court whether the litigants will consent to be reconciled.

In recent years it has been the practice of Americans merely to rent a room or apartment in Paris or vicinity and call that their legal residence, while seeking a divorce in the French courts. So long as the consierge accepted the mail of these residents and told callers that they lived there, they could usually be "not at home."

Recently, however, it became known that the French authorities had decided to make the divorce mill more difficult for foreigners to pass through.

U. S. TO PAY SUM OF $325,000,000 FOR CONSTRUCTION Commission of Three Is Created To Decide on Financial and Engineering Details.

JADWIN PROPOSAL IS RECOMMENDED

States To Pay Part of Costs Later, But Work To Be Rushed With Federal Money.

Washington, February 29.—(AP)—The senate received from the commerce committee today a flood bill incorporating engineering features of the administration, or Jadwin plan, providing $325,000,000 for federal payment of construction cost but leaving to a commission to determine how much interested communities shall pay of that sum.

The bill, bearing the name of Senator Jones, republican, Washington, chairman of the committee, while recommending the construction plan of Major General Jadwin, chief of army engineers, also leaves to the commission final determination whether that plan or another put forward by the Mississippi river commission or a combination of both will be adopted. The committee recommended the creation of a commission of three as suggested by President Coolidge and the members, the army chief of engineers, the president of the Mississippi commission, and a civil engineer to be appointed by the president, would consider final judgment on both the financial and engineering phases of the project.

The commission would decide after a survey how much and when the affected states would pay toward the construction cost, but in the meantime the control work would get under way at federal expense.

Under the Jones bill, as it stands now and until the commission should decide that communities must pay their share of the cost, the government would bear the entire burden, except that the communities would furnish levee rights of way not already acquired and pay one-third of the agreed cost to bring the levees up to the 1914 standard.

The Jones bill differs from the Reid legislation introduced in the house, in that the house committee recommended an appropriation of $473,000,000 and the enlargement of the Mississippi river commission to 13 members. Five of these members would be selected from the engineer corps of the army, one from the coast and geodetic survey and seven from civil life.

The measure introduced in the senate provides that the secretary of war

FIVE ARE INDICTED AS TRAIN ROBBERS

Chicago, February 29.—(AP)—Four days after train robbers last Saturday held up and bombed a Grand Central passenger train at Evergreen park, obtaining $133,000 in cash, a federal grand jury today returned a blanket indictment charging five men with the holdup.

The indictment, returned before Federal Judge Adam C. Cliffe, named Charles Cleaver, William Donovan, Frank Meccis, Virgil Litsinger, and William Jackson, Litsinger, a ward politician, and Jackson are still at large. Judge Cliffe fixed the bonds of the others at $100,000 each.

The true bills were voted. It was reported, largely on the testimony of Mrs. Cleaver, wife of Charles Cleaver, in whose home more than $17,000 of the loot was found.

Federal authorities indicated that they also are seeking others than those named in the indictment, but did not intimate whether those sought were actual participants in the holdup.

Chicago, February 29.—(United Press)—The "draft Coolidge" movement was given political prominence here when the Thompson-Crowe Cook county republican organization unanimously voted a demand upon Cook county's delegates to the state convention to endorse the president for a third term.

A second resolution adopted voiced a demand for a national referendum on repeal of the prohibition amendment.

Mayor William Hale Thompson, of Chicago, read the resolution.

The meeting also adopted a platform favoring government flood control and opposing entry of the United States into the world war.

The president was praised for his economical administration. Prohibition was denounced as a "growing failure," which was breeding a growing disrespect for the law and corrupted public life.

Mysterious Chicago Meeting Proves World War Reunion

Chicago, February 29.—(AP)—At 11:50 o'clock today George W. Reardon, of Portland, Ore., walked up the steps of the art institute, stopped between the two British lions on guard there, and looked around.

Half a minute later George E. Ruchty, of Hinsdale, Ill., came bounding up the steps to be whacked on the back by Mr. Reardon and to be whacked back in return. Next came Clifford Olaf Johnson, of Mankato, Minn., across Michigan avenue to Mr. Reardon and Mrs. Ruchty and in another minute A. J. Jones, of Waco, Texas, joined the crowd.

After many manifestations of joy one of them pulled the curtain aside on the back of the art institute. It was from G. Frost, of Little Rock, Ark., and said he couldn't come. F. J. Faurebach, of New York, was missing, and the rest waited 15 minutes for him and then decided he was lost.

"What," inquired an inquiring reporter, "is it all about?"

Then it developed that today's meetings between the lions of the Chicago Art Institute was the result of an agreement made in Ireland in 1918.

"In December, 1918," explained Mr. Ruchty, "the six of us met at Mulcahy's saloon in Passage, near Queenstown, Ireland. Rodenai was a naval aviator, the rest of us were sailors on destroyers. We had a pig's head dinner and at a pig's head dinner you are supposed to do something out of the ordinary. So we all agreed to meet between the lions of the art institute in Chicago at high noon on February 29, 1928. None of us have met since. We are going to meet again right here at the art institute on February 29, 1936."

WALKER SUCCEEDS IN SUB DISPUTES

New York, February 29.—(AP)—Mayor James J. Walker scored a point today in his efforts to avert a threatened strike on the Interborough Rapid Transit company's subway and elevated lines.

After a three-hour conference with officials of the company and the "company union," the mayor announced both had agreed to have the law department of the company review the cases of 19 men whom the company dismissed. It had been charged they were dismissed because they joined the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Efforts to avert a threatened walk-out on the city's principal subway and elevated lines overshadowed strikes in progress in the metropolitan district—tailors, railway expressmen and paperbox workers.

The 19 men suspended by the Interborough had joined the Amalgamated which had received court permission to minimize the transit lines. The Amalgamated threatened a strike unless the men were returned to work. Leaders of the I. R. T. Brotherhood, the company union, had threatened to call a strike if the men were reinstated, arguing that all employees of the I. R. T. had signed a contract to join a union but the Brotherhood.

Cuban-American Mail Agreement Runs Out Today

Washington, February 29.—(AP)—Beginning at midnight tonight, which marks the end of the modus vivendi extending the parcel post convention between Cuba and the United States, all mail parcels sent from either country to the other will be returned to the point of origin.

By the refusal of congress to enact legislation for permitting the importation from Cuba of cigars in lots of less than 3,000 and the insistence of the island republic upon the termination of the postal convention of 1905 unless this was done, not even a pocket handkerchief may not be transmitted except by express or freight.

"Cuba has faithfully performed her part of the agreement for 25 years," Second Assistant Postmaster General Glover declared today, but owing to the 1886 tobacco law all cigar shipments from Cuba have been excluded here, giving the United States all the best of the bargain.

Mr. Glover reiterated the position of the department at the time of the recent hearing before the house ways and means committee which reported the bill favorably, saying that a huge loss for American manufacturers would result. "American railroads will lose nearly a million dollars a year in revenues," he said, "and American factory production will suffer heavily from the loss of trade with Cuba, as express costs are double or treble the charges for parcel post."

HOUSE GIVES AID TO WAR ON PESTS

Washington, February 29.—(AP)—An appropriation of $200,000 for immediate use in combating the pink boll worm in Texas and other southwestern states was recommended by a measure passed today by the house and sent to the senate.

Chairman Madden, of the house appropriation committee, explained that funds for this purpose were needed at once. He said that $508,000 for combating the boll weevil was carried in the annual agriculture department supply bill reported to the house today but that a part of this money was needed now. He added that later he would propose an amendment to reduce the $508,000 by $300,000 when the bill is called up later this week.

"This, he said, would provide funds for immediate use and at the same time not increase the original appropriation proposed for this work."

CITY VOTE SLOWS UP RESULTS IN BALDWIN

BY EMILY ROYD.

Griffin, Ga., February 29.—(Special).—Tabulation of the ballots in the Spalding county democratic primary had not been completed late Wednesday night, with the result that only one candidate was assured of his nomination for office—that of county school superintendent.

In that race J. P. Manley, the incumbent, was renominated, receiving 673 votes, as compared with 649 received by his nearest opponent, W. D. Harris, and 325 for A. J. Mize, third aspirant in the race.

Count of the day's balloting stood as follows, the figures representing the vote of Spalding county outside of Griffin:

In the race for tax collector, Grover Padgett, with 923 votes, was leading E. F. Travis, the incumbent, who had received only 725.

H. T. Johnson, present tax receiver, with 1,379 votes, was outdistancing his opponent, Joe Starr, who had accumulated a poll of only 398; while in the contest for sheriff, around which most of the interest seemed to center, S. D. Stapleton, with 845, led his three opponents—G. C. Patrick, with 486 votes; W. G. Hutson, 334, and W. T. Freeman, 35.

For judge of the Griffin city court, A. K. Maddox was unopposed, as were W. H. Connor for solicitor of the city court; W. A. Jester for county commissioner; W. J. Morrow, for coroner, and F. P. Lindsay, for clerk of the superior court.

STANTON, WILSON ADDRESS CLASSES AT GEORGIA TECH

Frank L. Stanton, Jr., advertising manager of the Muse Clothing company, and Warner C. Wilson, district general manager of the Home Life Insurance company, addressed members of the Georgia Tech senior and junior commerce classes Wednesday morning in the first of a series of weekly lectures sponsored by Alpha Delta Sigma, professional advertising fraternity, and the commerce faculty.

Prominent business executives are invited each year to address the classes in the interest of their professions. The possibilities of a future position in some line of work is explained to the students.

Mr. Stanton discussed the new method of advertising which is gradually taking the place of the purely systematic type formerly used by most retail advertisers. He stated that an advertising manager must have executive and sales ability in addition to advertising ability.

Mr. Wilson gave a brief history of business competition since the war. The functions of the life insurance company were divided into investment and medical.

DAVIDSON GLEE CLUB APPEARS HERE FRIDAY

Atlanta will be treated to a musical Friday night when the curtain rises on 40 youthful college singers who comprise the membership of the Davidson College Glee club, now on an extended tour of the south.

By critics as one of Dixie's premier college musical organizations.

Endeavoring to break away from the type of program customarily presented by college musicians, the Davidson club boasts a repertoire entirely "collegiate" in tone. With the exception of solos by Mrs. Emily Berger, popular Chicago concert and orchestra singer, who is accompanying the young collegians on their jaunt through the southland, all of the offerings included in the program to be presented at the Atlanta Woman's club are characterized by the enthusiasm and zest of the college campus.

His choir of 30 voices, a concert orchestra of 15 pieces, a jazz orchestra of 10, two quartets and a string instrument trio are the units used by the Davidson boys, presenting their strictly "collegiate" program. Feature artists including Mme. Berger; Robert S. Lowrance, one-time member of the Atlanta light opera and now a student at Davidson, and E. E. Peterson, popular Atlanta chorister, are employed to give the program a touch of the classical.

The club will arrive in Atlanta from Anderson, S. C., Friday afternoon, and will be entertained by members of the Atlanta Presbyterian, United Methodist and Baptist churches. They will be heard at the Woman's club.

TWO NEAR DEATH IN REVOLVER DUEL N E A R C O L U M B U S

Columbus, Ga., February 29.—(AP)—Officer J. S. Stanley, of the Phenix City, Ala., police force, and J. M. Jinnette, of the Girard section of Phenix City, are in local hospitals as the result of a revolver duel late Tuesday in which each was shot once in the abdomen. Their condition is reported as being critical and neither is expected to live.

According to reports of the shooting, Jinnette, meeting Stanley in front of the undertaking establishment of J. W. Harris, drew his pistol and fired at the officer after the exchange of a few words, as the latter made a move to take hold of him.

The officer said he was grabbed Jinnette's arm as he drew his pistol and the first shot is reported to have gone wild. The pair clinched, according to eyewitnesses, and Jinnette, in possession of the gun, when Officer Hall, of the Phenix City force, came up and joined in the tussle.

In the crash, jury will be impaneled tomorrow before Judge H. K. Lorraine to conduct an inquest into the accident.

Barrentine has relatives living in Phenix City. Sheriff Frank Keady, who investigated the accident, said today.

Lawrenceville, Ga., February 29.—(Special).—The parents of W. D. Huston, 14, and his cousin, Harold Morgan, 16, are seeking some word of the two youths, who disappeared from their homes here Sunday afternoon and are now believed to be on their way to Florida.

Mr. Huston's father Sunday requested his father to let him take the family car and drive to Atlanta and when this was refused he and the Huston lad went away together and have not been heard from since.

W. D. Huston, Sr., father of one of the runaways, has offered a reward of $25 for information leading to the return of his son, who is described as being a boy of good size, with dark brown hair, black eyes and dark complexion. When last seen he was wearing a dark suit containing a checkered vest. He is 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighs about 125 pounds, his father said.

"We wish to thank our able judge, John B. Reed Refuses Ride On Mechanical Horse Of Breakfast Club

Los Angeles, February 29.—(AP)—Graciously declining to ride the mechanical hobbyhorse of the Breakfast club here today, Senator Reed remarked:

"I'll ride a live horse if I ride at all."

It is one of the stunts of the Breakfast club to have its guests mount the hobbyhorse. The Missouriian pleaded off, however, in reply to the invitation of Morris de Mond, president of the club, said that the club had hoped to test Mr. Reed's presidential qualifications, since the horse was similar to that used by President Coolidge.

350 Consecutive Appearances

Young actress discovers how to be on the job every day

SHE USED to lose one night at least every month from her work. Valuable time that lost money for the show.

But for over a year now she's been on the job every single day, for 350 consecutive appearances in the record-breaking run of a Broadway hit. What made the difference? Such a simple hygiene habit that it's surprising more women haven't found it out.

She takes a spoonful of Nujol regularly for a few days beforehand, each month. Nujol regulates the intestinal functions of the body at times when they're apt to be upset. Helps to keep normal, even under abnormal conditions. Cleanses the whole system.

Why don't you try Nujol, as this woman did? Take it for the next three months. You'll be amazed at the difference it makes.

Nujol can't possibly hurt you. For it contains absolutely no drugs or medicine.

Broadway Favorite

It was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). Be sure you get the genuine.

John S. McClelland

Committee Sees Favor of Voters

Points Out His Qualifications As Lawyer And Citizen . . .

By the generous response of the voters of Fulton county, we find a very strong and determined sentiment in favor of the election of John S. McClelland for Solicitor of the Criminal Court of Atlanta.

That the people of this county will give to Mr. McClelland the opportunity to realize his ambition to serve them in this office by a large majority on March 7th, taking into consideration that Mr. McClelland was defeated by only 169 votes out of over 20,000 cast four years ago, and the fact that Mr. Dorsey, who was his opponent at that time, has since resigned his position as Solicitor for a better paying place.

That the people of this county are well acquainted with Mr. McClelland's high standing as a lawyer who has practiced law in this community for over seventeen years since his graduation from the University of Georgia in 1910, and by his outstanding ability as a lawyer and his high moral character is eminently qualified to hold this office.

The keynote of John S. McClelland's campaign has been for an impartial and fearless enforcement of all laws looking to the best interest of society and the full protection of the home, and particularly the young girls and boys. Mr. McClelland has children of his own and is deeply interested in the protection of the youth of our community.

Back - to - Farm Movement Increases During Past Year

BY LEE GEBHART.
United News Staff Correspondent.
Washington, February 29.—The drift from the farm to the city has been slowed down with the rise of new hope among the farmers, according to Secretary of Agriculture Jardine.

His latest figures, he said today, show a net movement of 604,000 persons from farms to cities last year as against 1,020,000 in 1923 and 834,000 in 1925.

"The decrease in net cityward movement is considered to reflect the improved agricultural conditions, the disillusionment of those who sought better economic conditions in cities and who are now returning to farms, and the slight slackening of industrial employment," Jardine said. "A survey made this winter showed that 87 per cent of those moving from cities to farms had had farm experience."

Jardine believes this apparent check in the drift to the city may ease the city unemployment problem somewhat.

The figures show that last year 1,978,000 persons left farms compared with 2,155,000 in 1923. They also show that 1,374,000 left cities compared with 1,335,000 in 1923. In other words, the movement from the farms fell off and the movement from the cities increased.

ASKS FOR COOPERATION IN OIL CONSERVATION

Washington, February 29.—(AP)—Cooperation of the governors of 20 oil-producing states in obtaining uniform state and federal legislation for petroleum conservation was asked today by Secretary Work, who is chairman of the federal oil conservation board.

Indorsing the recent report of an advisory committee and its recommendations for federal legislation to prevent over-production and waste in the industry, Secretary Work asked the state executives to present their views on the possibility of uniting upon uniform legislation.

"I know that you have given much thought to this vital matter," the secretary said. "What we desire, of course, is practical conservation of our petroleum resources by whatever means is most feasible. I would appreciate if you will let this board have your viewpoints, together with such recommendations as you may care to advance."

Secretary Work said the federal oil conservation board believed that the tentative bill drafted by the committee as a part of its report would, if enacted into law, undoubtedly cure many of the existing evils of the oil industry.

2 STATE EMPLOYEES CONFESS FORGERY IN ARKANSAS CASE

Little Rock, Ark., February 29.—(AP)—With three state employees under charges of forgery and two of them having confessed, state auditors today pushed their investigation of the state department of revenues in an effort to have all evidence on the issuance of fraudulent gasoline tax refund claims ready for the grand jury Monday.

Sol Gershner and Clyde Head, the former employed until Monday in the tax division and the latter in the cigarette tax division of the revenue department, have confessed, Governor Martineau announced, that they had a part in the issuance of about $25,000 worth of fictitious refund claims. Both have made bond of $5,000 each.

A. W. Thomas, chief clerk in the gas refund division until last Monday, was arrested last night at Morrilton and was expected here today to make bond. The three are charged with forging names to refund claims.

In the confessions which the governor said Gershner and Head made, Thomas was implicated. The men said, according to the governor, that E. Goodman, cashier of a bank at Ashdown, was paid 10 per cent for handling the fraudulent claims.

Governor Martineau said if any action was taken against Goodman it would be in Little River county, in which Ashdown is located. Goodman has resigned following the disclosures, the president announced.

STEPHENSON TESTIFIES IN BANK PROBE

Kokomo, Ind., February 29.—(AP)—Details of an alleged "ring" of Indiana politicians who levied tribute on state banks in return for the favor of state deposits were revealed to the Howard county grand jury today when D. C. Stephenson, former Klan leader, finally agreed to testify.

Stephenson consented to tell what he claims he knows regarding the failure of the American Trust company, which is the subject of inquiry by the grand jury, after he was guaranteed the right freely to consult his attorneys before being returned to the Indiana state prison, where he is serving a life sentence for murder.

"He is telling the story fully," said Homer R. Miller, county prosecutor, during a short forenoon recess.

Stephenson was in the grand jury room throughout the morning and Prosecutor Miller said he hoped to finish with Stephenson today. He added that the investigation probably would continue for a week or ten days.

Stephenson at first refused to testify this morning, as he did yesterday, until he had consulted his attorneys. He said he feared he would be subjected to torture at the prison "at the hands of servants of Governor Jackson" if he gave "substantial" testimony as to what he knew of the failure of the American Trust company.

Judge John Marshall agreed that the witness should be permitted again to consult with his attorneys.

VENEZUELA RIOTS CAUSE SUSPENSION OF TRAIN SERVICE

Caracas, Venezuela, February 29.—(AP)—Transportation and telephone services were suspended and disorders occurred in the streets when strikes were declared in sympathy with the imprisonment of university students. Energetic action by the authorities has restored order and conditions now are normal.

During the festivities of students' week certain university students were alleged to have made speeches reflecting on the government. Their arrest followed. Others of the student body insisted that if their comrades were not released they also should be imprisoned and about 200, who surrounded the authorities, were locked up.

Strikes by employees of public service and commercial companies followed.

Tourists reaching other countries from Venezuela have said that the student manifestation was against President Juan Vincente Gomez, who has been the chief executive in Venezuela since 1908. He was reelected in 1922 for a term of seven years. Tourists at Williamsport, Curacao, stated that 400 students had been arrested, some imprisoned at Caracas and others sent to Puerto Cabello.

STEPHENSON AIDS KLAN OUSTER SUIT

Kokomo, Ind., February 29.—(AP)—A deposition from D. C. Stephenson has been sought for use in a suit to oust the Ku Klux Klan from Pennsylvania. It was revealed by the former grand dragon of the Indiana Klan today.

Stephenson, here as a witness before the Howard county grand jury, made public a letter from Van A. Barrickman, a Pennsylvania attorney, which he received at the Indiana state prison, where he is serving a life term for murder.

Barrickman, an associate counsel in the Pennsylvania anti-Klan suit, which is set for April 9, seeks a deposition from Stephenson in his effort to "lay bare the inner workings of the order, and to show up its chief executive, who under the name of Christianity and law and order has developed a criminal organization that should be checked in its career."

Stephenson's deposition is sought, the letter said, because Colonel Joseph Simmons, at Atlanta, former Klan leader, told Barrickman that Stephenson "knows more about Hiram W. Evans than any other living man."

The letter characterized the Klan as having become "a public nuisance to free institutions."

Stephenson has indicated his willingness to give his deposition and instructed his attorney, Lloyd O. Hill, to write Barrickman.

Fred C. Gause, Indianapolis attorney and special counsel with Gilliam in the suit to oust the Klan from Indiana, is said to have conferred with Barrickman at Pittsburgh recently.

Box Would Restrict Western Hemisphere Immigration to U. S.

Washington, February 29.—(AP)—Statements that Mexican laborers are receiving high wages and that their living conditions are good were challenged by Representative Box, democrat, Texas, before the house immigration committee today when hearings were resumed on his bill to restrict western hemisphere immigration.

Box has introduced his bill because he believes Mexican and other western hemisphere laborers live cheaply in this country, thus tending to reduce wages of Americans.

In the senate, where hearings on the Box bill also were in progress before the immigration committee, opposition to the measure was voiced by Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the Association of Railway Executives, who declared that railroads of the southwest depend largely on Mexicans for labor.

NASHVILLE POLICE SEEK FLORIDA MAN IN MURDER PROBE

Nashville, Tenn., February 29.—(United News.)—Police were searching for Tony Martini, of Orlando, Fla., today as the slayer of James Mallory, local groceryman, Monday night.

Larry Fitzgerald, local mechanic, admitted after hours of grilling today that he had been intimate with Mrs. Martini and the police theory was that Martini was searching for Fitzgerald and mistook Mallory for the mechanic.

WRIGHT MONUMENT READY FOR SPONSORS

Elizabeth City, N. C., February 29.—(AP)—A monument to be placed in the rear of the Methodist parsonage at Kitty Hawk, on the spot where the Wright brothers assembled their first glider in those early experiments that led to the development of the airplane has just been completed here and turned over to a group of its sponsors.

The monument is of black, polished granite and is a likeness of the first glider, a boxkite affair, and under it is the inscription:

"On this spot, September 17, 1900, Wilbur Wright began the assembly of the Wright brothers first experimental glider which led to man's conquest of the air. Erected by citizens of Kitty Hawk, N. C., 1928."

The monument plans were sponsored largely by Captain V. J. Tate, for more than 40 years a resident of the Kitty Hawk community, and now keeper of the government lighthouse depot at Coates Creek, Currituck county. In 1900 Captain Tate lived in the house that is now the Methodist parsonage at Kitty Hawk and the Wright brothers boarded with his family during the course of this memorable experience.

They put together that initial glider in the front yard of his home, Captain Tate said, exhibiting a photograph of the kite-like contraption. It was not much of a success, he recalled, from the fact that it would not bear aloft the weight of a man in a wind of less than 25 to 30 miles an hour, making the ascent a decidedly hazardous business.

ARRESTS MADE IN THE STABBING OF NOTED JESUIT

Roma, February 29.—(AP)—Three arrests of the "suspects" class have been made in the attempt to solve the mysterious attack on Father Tacchi Venturi, but the identity of the man who stabbed the noted Jesuit with a paper cutter has not been established. The wounded ecclesiastic failed to recognize any of the trio as his assailants.

Father Tacchi Venturi's condition continues excellent. His chats with his visitors, who have included Cardinal Gasparri and Cerretti, and shows each the plaster-covered wound in his neck. To each also he has rehearsed the story of the attack.

BODY OF BROOKS THOUGHT LOCATED BY AIR SEARCHER

Miami, Fla., February 29.—(AP)—A. B. Chalk, local aviator, and J. R. Lilly, of Chicago, who yesterday conducted an aerial search off Sebastian for the body of Harry Brooks, missing Ford "flier" pilot, reported today on their return here that they located what they thought was body awash in the surf about 175 feet off shore north of Sebastian inlet.

A rough sea prevented them from alighting on the water in their airplane but they said they dropped a life preserver, weighted with a sea anchor, to guide searchers by boat.

DAY DEPUTY "DRY" OFFICER IN FLORIDA

Washington, February 29.—(AP)—W. T. Day today was appointed deputy prohibition administrator for the southern district of Florida. He had been serving as a prohibition officer at Savannah.

Jacksonville, Fla., February 29.—(AP)—W. T. Day, whose appointment as deputy prohibition administrator for the southern district of Florida was announced today, has served in that capacity here since last July 15.

J. C. Ray, acting head of the dry office during Day's absence from the city, today interpreted the announcement as a confirmation of the recommendation of Day under the new civil service examinations.

Recommendations of those who passed the recent examinations were necessary, and Day had been expecting formal announcement of his commission for several days, Ray said.

MUSICIANS PLAN MEET IN ATHENS

Athens, Ga., February 29.—(7)—Teachers of music and music-lovers from all the southern states are expected in Athens during the week of July 23 for a music teachers' institute to be held in connection with grand opera week of the University of Georgia summer school. Dr. Joseph S. Stewart, summer school director, has announced.

Men and women of recognized ability will have charge of the institute, it is said. Among those who have already agreed to take part, according to Dr. Stewart, are Dr. Philip Greely Clapp, former head of the department of music at Dartmouth college, and now head of the extension department of the Juilliard Music Foundation; James Francis Cooke, composer and author, editor of The Etude, and Vladimir Rosing, well known concert and opera artist.

Instruction in music at this year's session of the summer school again will be under the general supervision of George F. Grauberry, of New York city, head of the Granberry School of Music in New York and Brooklyn. Dr. Stewart declared, Mr. Grauberry has supervised music at summer school here for the past several years.

In connection with the university's second season of grand opera, to be held during the coming summer school, Dr. Stewart pointed out that the University of Georgia is the only college in the United States that offers free to its students an annual week of grand opera by eminent stars. This year's five operas will be sung, Dr. Stewart said, by the best artists on the New York, Chicago and Philadelphia stages. Their names will be announced later, it was explained. The opening opera of the week is scheduled for Tuesday night, July 24.

GUILTY OF MAIL THEFT, MAN GIVEN 18-MONTH TERM

Found guilty by a jury in United States district court Wednesday morning on charges of stealing parcel post mail from the Terminal station, Robert Wynn, former employee at the Terminal station postoffice, was sentenced to 18 months in the Atlanta federal penitentiary by Federal Judge Robert Ervin, of Mobile, who is presiding over criminal division this week for Judge Samuel H. Sibbey.

Judge Ervin sentenced John Teems, of Gilmer county, to 60 days on a plea of guilty to possession of half a gallon of whiskey. Federal officers charged that this was Teems' second offense.

Jim Page, of Pickens county, also an alleged second offender, who was arrested Tuesday, was given a speedy journey to district court, and entered a plea of guilty Wednesday morning to charges of possessing five pints of whiskey. Page was also sentenced to 60 days.

U. O. Thomason, charged with possessing and transporting 57 gallons of whiskey in an automobile, was fined $150 on a plea of guilty, but sentence was deferred 30 days on condition that Thomason make $250 bond. Judge Ervin signed an order for the sale of the automobile.

Recovering quickly at the hospital Del Rio explained that he had cut his finger and the loss of blood caused him to faint. MRS. HUGHES' $10,000 VERDICT IS AFFIRMED

The court of appeals Wednesday affirmed a $10,000 verdict for damages returned by the Fulton superior court in favor of Mrs. Nora E. Hughes against the Western and Atlantic railroad. In the decision the court held that domestic services rendered around the home amounted to pecuniary loss and that such a loss should be considered in arriving at a verdict.

Record Display of Shoes For Men Made by Muse's

Declared to be the largest exhibit of men's shoes ever staged in Atlanta, all of its 14 big plate-glass display windows this week are devoted to a showing of Johnston & Murphy shoes for men, which line is handled by the Muse company.

In addition to its magnitude, the display is said to be the first of its kind ever held in Atlanta in which so many windows have been devoted to men's shoes exclusively, and the first in which the Muse company has ever used one-color, one-price, one-model shoe displays.

One of the features of the great showing of Johnston & Murphy shoes is found in the window at the corner of Peachtree and Walton streets, where shoes made by Johnston & Murphy from 1822 until 1928 are featured in a century style show of men's footwear. This window graphically pictures the evolution of men's shoes from the silver buckle tie model of 1822, through the two-eyelot brogan of 1842, the patent leather, two-eyelot tie of 1862, the congress gaiter of 1882, the "tooth pick" model of 1894 and the high-toe, high-heeled shoe of 1902.

The other windows of the Muse company are devoted to attractive showings of the popular and nationally-known Johnston & Murphy shoes in groups of single models in the shades that will be popular for spring wear.

CITY HUMANE SOCIETY REPORTS ACTIVITIES

Service in humanity's name that included protection and kindness to the dumb friends of man—service that was a protection to men as well as to the animals saved from suffering—was described Wednesday as one of the many-sided activities of the Community Chest in the monthly report of the Atlanta Humane society, one of the chest agencies, to the service department of the chest.

In addition to defending dumb animals from needless suffering and abuse, the report showed that the society made numerous inspections, the value of which was seen in protection for the public from the careless handling of stock destined as food for Atlanta citizens.

The report stated that 141 animals were protected in January—18 horses, mules, and other large animals examined and protected by agents of the society; three humely destroyed; two taken from work; and 10 warnings were issued to owners. Thirteen dogs and cats were humanely destroyed, and homes were found for 27 dogs, the latter service being fruitful of happiness for as many new owners, most of whom were children.

Seven carloads of cattle were inspected, three truck loads of chickens and 15 other investigations and adjustments were made by the agents of the society, according to the report. Small cost was attached to this activity, Miss Grace Millikin, executive in charge, reported. J. Carroll Payne is president of the society.

Elephant Game Is Lots of Fun, Contestant Says

"It's more fun than a barrel of monkeys."

That's what an Atlanta woman told the manager of The Constitution's Triplet Elephant Game Wednesday, thereby carrying out the circus motif that is associated with elephants.

"I'm out to win one of the capital prizes," the woman contestant added. "You, too, may get in line to win the biggest prize of $1,500 in the Triplet Elephant Game. A grand total of $4,000 in cash is offered winners, and the challenge to individual ingenuity is attracting widespread acceptance in this section."

There's nothing involved about the game. The rules are simple—everybody has an equal chance to win. And just remember that the prizes are big, fat ones that will make many a hope come true.

Why not get into this novel, instructive game today? In this issue you'll find a big advertisement describing it in detail.

Valdosta Paper Resumes Work Despite Threat

Valdosta, Ga., February 29.—(Special.)—Despite fire damage, the mysterious death of a linotype operator, sabotage by which the plant was put out of business for weeks and a threatening letter to the editor, the Valdosta Journal has made its appearance again.

In November last year after about four issues, fire of undetermined origin, damaged the plant, causing the paper to be printed elsewhere for several weeks.

In January on the same night that R. A. Deen, linotype operator, was mysteriously killed in a supposed automobile wreck the plant of the paper was put out of business by all the belts being cut into ribbons and the display type "piled" into a mass in the middle of the floor.

H. B. Edwards, editor of the paper, at the same time received an unsigned letter in which he was told that they will "get him next." In resuming publication this week Colonel Edwards says it is his determination to carry on along the plans outlined in his first issue and fire, sabotage and such other things cannot deter the owners of the paper from continuing publication.

VIADUCT COMPLETION SEEN BY JAN. 1, 1929

The Prior street and Central avenue viaducts can be finished by January 1, 1929, if contracts can be let in April, Alderman W. Guy Dobbs, chairman of the bridge committee of the city council, stated Wednesday after conferring with leading construction men.

Final approval of the viaduct plans before a joint meeting of the bridge committee, city council and the viaduct contact committee of the bond commission Wednesday afternoon at a session called to authorize contracts and plans. According to plans, bids will be opened on April 2 and contracts awarded on April 16. Practically all details have been completed and everything is in readiness for construction to begin.

C. E. Kaufman, bridge engineer of the city construction department, has checked plans and found them in excellent order. James L. Mayson, city attorney, has perfected legal proceedings preparatory to actual award of contracts and requirements of the city property needed in the work.

Track depression work is nearing completion and contracts will be asked shortly for laying pavement for New street from Dexter to Wall, giving a ground level entrance to the Union station.

TENTATIVE MOTOR BUS RULES ARE SUBMITTED

Tentative rules and regulations covering service and charges on all motor bus lines operating as common carriers in Georgia, submitted for "constructive criticism" on the part of interested parties at a conference called for March 14 at the state capital, were announced Wednesday by the Georgia public service commission through Chairman James A. Perry.

Following the hearing, an announcement explained, the commission will issue a final order governing the lines.

Included among the proposed regulations are requirements that the companies file with the commission schedules of fares and operations, as well as annual fiscal reports and reports upon accidents; that bus operators be daily examined to test their ability as drivers; that companies carry indemnity insurance, in amounts prescribed by the commission, for protection of persons and property transported; that drivers give undivided attention to guiding vehicles in motion; that speed of buses be not greater than forty miles per hour; and that in case of breakdown, provision be made for carrying passengers to their destinations.

Other regulations would cover provisions for the safety, comfort and convenience of passengers, one of them requiring a mechanic's inspection of each vehicle between trips.

GRASS BLAZES KEEP FIREFMEN ON JUMP; WARNING IS ISSUED

Warning to Atlantans against starting grass fires that may get beyond their control was issued Wednesday by fire department officials, in view of the unusually large number of such fires which have necessitated calling out the fire department in the past few days.

Seven grass fires drew the attention of firemen Wednesday. These were at Sanderson and Hardie streets, rear of 378 Forrest avenue, N. E.; 704 Flat Shoals avenue, S. E.; 1310 West Peachtree, N. W.; on West Lake avenue beyond the city limits, Moreland avenue and Glenwood street, and 505 Greenwood, N. E.

Other fires reported Wednesday included a blaze at the following addresses, caused by sparks from chimneys: 517 Erwin, N. E.; 241 Fain, S. E.; 827 Oakdale road, N. E., and rear of 97 Currier, N. E. A blaze of undetermined origin caused slight damage on the fourth floor of a dormitory at Morris Brown college, according to fire department reports. Several hundred students fled from the building in orderly fashion in response to the fire alarm.

SPINNERS REPORT COTTON GOODS CUT

New York, February 29.—(AP)—Reduced production of cotton goods to an average about 20 per cent below normal was reported by cotton manufacturers who attended a meeting of fine goods manufacturers today; sixty mills with more than 90 per cent of the fine goods looms in the United States, were represented at the gathering.

The curtailment in production, it was reported, was intended to prevent an accumulation of goods ahead of demand and to forestall losses that might result from constant pressure of goods on the market.

The meeting was under the joint auspices of the Cotton Textile Institute, Inc., and the fine goods exchange of New Bedford, Mass.

Walker D. Hines, president of the institute, said after the meeting that a committee would be appointed to insure a maximum of cooperation between the institute and the exchange, in gathering of statistics, cost studies and examination into trade practices.

The committee is to give special attention also to the relations between the producers of fine goods and other branches of the industry, such as converters, finishers and brokers.

Malcolm Whitman, of New Bedford, Mass., and Robert E. Henry, of Greenville, S. C., already have been appointed to the committee and other members will be announced later.

Threat of Suicide Reunites World War Veteran, Wife

East St. Louis, February 29.—(United News.)—All was well tonight and the world again looked bright to James Riffe, world war veteran, whose misinterpreted letter to his wife in Denver brought a promise she would return to him.

His wife had threatened divorce, but when she received a letter which indicated he would take his life, she summoned aid from newspapers and a radio appeal was about to be made to Riffe when he announced "it was all a mistake."

"I am happier than at any time in weeks," Riffe told The United Press when informed his wife had promised to return to him "if only he wouldn't kill himself." He denied contemplating suicide.

The couple, parents of two small children, had separated and Mrs. Riffe wrote a few days ago threatening divorce. He replied that he would end his life at 11 o'clock tonight. Now, Riffe says he did not mean it and the wife sent word she threatened divorce "merely to spur him on to greater things."

Denver and East St. Louis police departments, The United Press, East St. Louis Daily Journal and The Denver News aided in straightening out the double misunderstanding.

Denver, Colo., February 29.—(United News.)—Mrs. George Riffe will join her husband in East St. Louis as soon as the health of their two children permits.

LEE GENTLE WINS FIGHT TO PREVENT BAN ON POOL ROOM

Lee C. Gentle, Georgia's champion boxer, Wednesday night staged a fight to save his pool room on Forsyth street and won.

The police committee of city council, after a hearing, refused to order his establishment closed, although operators of nearby business houses petitioned that he be forced to move to another location.

Mr. Gentle, the father of 29 children, appeared in person Wednesday night and convinced members of the committee that he should be permitted to continue to operate at his present address. He said his lease would not expire before August, and declared he could not legally break the contract.

M. L. Thrower, prominent Atlanta real estate operator, led the delegation asking that the pool room be outlawed.

Charles Murphy, alderman from the 11th ward, presided.

THREE YOUNG MEN NAB BIG PAY ROLL IN STREET HOLDUP

Indianapolis, Ind., February 29.—(AP)—Three young men here this afternoon held up a man carrying a roll of money in the center of the business district and escaped with a $1,000 pay roll of the Hetherington & Berner Iron Works.

The robbers drove away in Bryson's automobile after carrying him six blocks. Bryson is the son of the Indianapolis postmaster.

DR. POTEAT TO SPEAK AT MIDDAY SERVICE

The Rev. C. R. Stauffer, pastor of the First Christian church and president of the Atlanta Evangelical Ministers' association, Wednesday delivered the third address of a six-weeks noonday revival service being conducted at the First Baptist church under auspices of the Ministers' association and the Atlanta Christian council.

Delivering a sharp thrust at what he termed external religion, Dr. Stauffer called on his audience to set a better example for the youth of today and quit blaming them for "heading for hell when we older people set them such sorry examples of Christianity."

The Rev. E. M. Poteat, pastor of the First Baptist church, former president of Furman university and former missionary to China, will occupy the pulpit at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon for the half-hour lunch service.

The Rev. W. C. Davis, of the Central Presbyterian church, will preside.

Before the noon-day service was started Wednesday the Rev. Harvey Reeves Calkins, former missionary to India, author and orator, delivered an address on stewardship. He will talk at the same place on the same subject beginning at 11 o'clock this morning.

Leading pulpit orators from many sections of the United States will occupy the pulpit beginning next Monday.

Music was directed by the Rev. Dr. A. W. Reeves, pastor of the Grant Park Baptist church, and Mrs. Arthur McCrory presided at the organ.

"The trouble with the Christian people today is that they are too religious on the outside and not on the inside," said Dr. Stauffer in his sermon.

"The fruits of religion show plainly that we are falling short of the word of God," he said. "We must improve in our way of living so that we may set a better example before the younger generation."

Undersea-Escape Device Invented By Georgia Man

Donaldsonville, Ga., February 29.—(Special.)—Jim Haralson, of this place, has just invented a device whereby men imprisoned in a sunken submarine can be liberated, or, in cases of emergency, can liberate themselves. A model has been completed and it works perfectly and a patent will be applied for at once, the inventor says.

Haralson has made a test of the device by placing a cat in the model submarine, submerging it in three feet of water then liberating the cat via the device, leaving the model submerged absolutely dry on the interior, freeing the cat without a drop of water having touched it.

Officials of the war department are now in communication with Haralson relative to the device and request that he present his plans and sketches to a committee, which has recently been appointed at Washington consisting of army officers and congressmen to devise some means whereby the lives of men will not be sacrificed in cases of accidents.

FARM AID DEBATE BRINGS OUT IRONY

Washington, February 29.—(AP)—A clinch by Oldfield, of Arkansas, the democratic whip, that the republicans were blocking farm relief and agricultural tariff legislation, precipitated a polemic exchange today on the house floor.

Half a dozen republicans grilled the democratic leader on his assertions that the house ways and means committee had failed to consider revision of the tariff and the democratic side of the house, including Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, the party's floor leader, came to Oldfield's support.

"Agriculture is in a worse condition than in a generation," said Oldfield. "Out of nearly 4,000 bank failures during the Coolidge administration 95 per cent have been in farming districts and 163,000 farms changed hands during 1927."

When Oldfield declared that the farmers "would like to see the tariff brought down," Representatives Denison, of Illinois; Crowther and Leavitt, of Montana, led the republican side in hurling a barrage of questions at the democratic whip.

POLITICAL RALLY MARKED BY TILTS

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK.

For the first time since entry lists closed for the Fulton county primary to be held March 7 the race for Fulton county commission occupied the spotlight Wednesday night when principals engaged in heated verbal tilts before a large audience gathered at the Smillie school in the interest of John S. McClelland's candidacy for solicitor of the criminal court of Atlanta.

All candidates were invited to speak at the meeting, despite the fact that it was announced as a gathering of friends of McClelland. Carlton W. Binns, incumbent, was one of the speakers.

The clash occurred between George M. Hope, Jr., who represented his father, George M. Hope, Sr., a candidate for one of the two vacancies on the Fulton county commission, and Sam D. Hewlett, another of the five contestants for the position.

Following an address by R. Fountain, a representative of Mr. Hewlett, a heckler arose and asked if it was true that Mr. Hewlett has not paid his taxes "since 1920 and if it was a fact that he is not a registered voter in the county."

Mr. Fountain was unable to make a reply, but Mr. Hewlett, who arrived at the meeting shortly afterwards, took the rostrum, and after admitting that certain of his taxes are in arrears "but will be paid before Saturday night" launched an attack on Captain Hope in connection with the purchase of certain automotive equipment of the county, which he charged had been purchased from an automobile concern with which the son of the commissioner is affiliated.

In rebuttal, George Hope, Jr., stated that the committee heads making the purchases have not included his father, and declared that the county received "dollar-for-dollar" for every piece of equipment which ever has been bought from our firm."

When Mr. Hewlett took the rostrum, he called for the man who had made the charges, but he had retired from the meeting. He then opened fire at the Hope candidacy.

"I was told that this malicious and unfair attack would be made on me by friends of Captain Hope, and am prepared to rebut it," Mr. Hewlett said. "It is true that I owe the county some taxes, but they will be paid before Saturday night. I am a registered voter and the registration list will show it."

"It has been brought to my attention that Captain Hope's son, George Hope, Jr., has sold the county many hundreds of dollars worth of automotive equipment while his father was a member of the board of Fulton county commissioners. This should and will be investigated."

A. M. Corrie, Mr. Lowry's opponent, was represented and promised to install a bus to carry prisoners to and from the jail to the courthouse.

Walter McElreath spoke for Mr. Harwell at the Smillie meeting, and Mr. Johnson also was represented.

Mrs. Beulah Doneho Manston, Mrs. Mabel Abbott MacNeill and Mrs. J. W. Wakefield, aspirants for the position of Fulton county treasurer, spoke or were represented.

Ed H. Inman, Dr. A. H. Cochran and Walter B. Stewart, the three other contestants for the two positions on Fulton county commission, made addresses.

Another rally in the interest of the McClelland candidacy will be held at the Fair Street school at 7:30 o'clock tonight, and Mr. Binns also will appear on invitation.

DEFENDS SALES

"Fulton county has received a dollar's worth of value for every dollar it ever spent with my firm," Mr. Hope declared. "I have sold the county some equipment. That is my business. That is the way I make my living, and I hope to sell them more equipment in the future. My father has not been connected with committees with which I have dealt."

"I do not know who made the attack on Mr. Hewlett. We were not responsible for it, but I do feel that the thrust at my father and me was unwarranted. I have never done anything in my dealings with the commission that I am ashamed of, but rather am proud to say that all the material we have ever sold was sold strictly on its own merits."

All other candidates were present or represented at the Smillie rally, and friends of Mr. Harwell, who is opposing Edwin F. Johnson in his race for Fulton county tax collector, held a rally at Riverside, where all candidates spoke.

Carlton Binns and John McClelland met at the Smillie school gathering in the interest of their respective candidacies for the position of solicitor of the criminal court of Atlanta, and both were cordially received.

Mr. McClelland predicated his claims to the position on his desire to be of use to the constructive service to citizens of Fulton county in the protection of its youth and my ambition to serve in the capacity of solicitor.

Mr. Binns claimed the support of voters on "my record of service, law enforcement and efficient administration of affairs of the office" since Governor Hardman named him to the position about five months ago.

RACE FOR SHERIFF

Emmett Quinn took the stump in the interest of the candidacy of Sheriff James I. Lowry for election for the fourth consecutive time.

"ENGINEER PASTOR" READY TO RESUME RELIGIOUS WORK

Rev. T. H. Harrison, "the engineer preacher," who has spent the greater part of the past ten years in hospitals over the country and who has been reported in a dying condition several times, has returned to Atlanta and within the next few weeks will conduct a series of services here, he stated Wednesday night.

Mr. Harrison was converted while running an engine in the N. C. & St. L. railroad yards in 1907 and until his health began to fail was active in religious circles here.

During the past eight years he has undergone ten major operations and has spent considerable time in hospitals in Atlanta, Florida, New York, Illinois and Missouri.

After he was converted and began to take an active part in religious work the N. C. & St. L. railroad company granted him an indefinite leave of absence in order that he might carry on his work. It was said that it was the first leave of this character ever granted by the company, which later named one of the engines "Mr. Harrison."

Mr. Harrison has four other small daughters. He has four other small children.

FIVE MORE HOLDUPS ADMITTED BY YOUTH

Five additional robberies in Atlanta during the past two weeks were confessed Wednesday, detectives say, by Otis Chalmers, one of three youths indicted Tuesday for the pay roll robbery Saturday of the Southern Bell company.

The other two youths are H. L. Arredale and C. A. Landers, arrested in Jacksonville Sunday with Chalmers and returned to Atlanta, where they are being held in the Fulton county tower in default of $5,000 each.

Robberies Chalmers is said to have confessed included the holdup of a filling station at Fair street and Cherokee avenue, where $60 was obtained; holdup of a second filling station at Lucile avenue and Gordon street, where $20 was rifled from the cash register, both on February 12.

February 17, holdups of an A. & P. store on Spring street which netted $20; the looting of $20 from a filling station at 1127 Ponce de Leon avenue, and the holdup of the Biltmore pharmacy, where the cash register was rifled of $60.

MOTORISTS CROWD CAPITOL'S LOBBIES AFTER AUTO TAGS

Large crowds thronged the halls and lobbies of the state capitol Wednesday to purchase 1928 automobile license tags, but due to the extra clerks on duty and to the fact that a one-month extension was granted the congestion this year was not as serious as a year ago.

Today is the last day on which license can be purchased without the imposition of penalties. Those who do not buy tags Thursday must get their licenses approved by the sheriff, who is entitled to collect a fee of $1 for each license application he approves. It was announced by Arthur T. Harris, chief clerk of the office of Secretary of State S. G. McLeod.

Preparations have been made to handle the crowds as easily as possible Thursday, according to Mr. Harris. Extra clerks are on duty in all departments to aid in rating cars and to dispose of license tags.

This year is about 40,000 tags ahead of last year at the same date, according to estimates made by Mr. Harris.

FARMERS OF HENRY COUNTY TO PLANT PEPPER THIS YEAR

Locust Grove, Ga., February 29.—(Special.)—The farmers of Henry county are making preparations for the extensive planting of pepper this year, among a number of other new crops.

In this section of the county there is a noticeable tendency on the part of the farmer to engage in dairying as a means of added revenue, and at the present time many farms formerly of the one-horse variety have two or more blooded cows.

March To Bring Many Pupils To Southern Business College

To Attend a "National" Accredited School Seems To Be the Tendency These Times.

"I have read about the Southern Shorthand and Business University having been accredited by the National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools, and I am anxious to take a business course here because of this assurance that the SOUTHERN is one of the best in the entire country." This was the statement of a new pupil on entering the Southern this week.

It's a safe step when a prospective pupil enrolls at a business school which has been accredited by the National Association, because he knows that he is going to get a good course in business—he knows that such a school has been investigated by business educators of worldwide reputation, and he knows that it will give him prestige to say that he obtained his business education at an institution which has been accredited by the NATIONAL.

Don't forget that eight out of every ten business men in Atlanta recommend the Southern to those inquiring for a real good school.

Visit and look through this old established institution when school is in session and you will attend it in preference to any other in this part of the country.

"Send catalog to . . . He wants a business course and I told him that the Southern is the best in the South, because I attended it and know."

LEADING GROWERS SEEK REHEARING ON PEACH RATES

Ten prominent Georgia peach growers will leave Atlanta Sunday for Washington to seek a rehearing of the recent decision of the commission relative to the revision of freight rates on peaches, it was announced Wednesday at the office of the commissioner of agriculture.

Suggestions were made by United States Senators Walter F. George and William J. Harris that a small delegation of Georgia citizens go to Washington to appear before the commission to seek a rehearing. Under the proposed scale of rates the shippers will pay from $100,000 to $300,000 more money for freight rates this season than last, according to the size of the crop.

Those in the party who will go to Washington are J. D. Duke, Fort Valley; A. J. Evans, Fort Valley; B. J. Breckmann, Augusta; W. M. Scott, Fort Valley; J. S. Peters, Manchester; W. C. Dowley, Macon; F. H. Arnold, Newnan; W. O. Britt, Thomasville; P. W. Godfrey, Covington, and C. J. Hood, Commerce.

OFFICERS CATCH AUTO, 60 GALLONS IN LIVELY CHASE

En route to Fulton tower late Tuesday night with two prisoners, County Policemen B. H. Hughes and Al Stovall detoured from their objective long enough to run down a suspicious car and arrest D. E. Reiser, 23, of Alpharetta, in alleged possession of 60 gallons of whiskey in an automobile, it was reported Wednesday. Reiser's bond was placed at $500.

Officers Hughes and Stovall reported that they pursued the alleged liquor car along Piedmont avenue to Ellis street, where the driver abandoned the car and caught after a brief chase by Officer Hughes.

March 10 Is Set For Hearing Petition On Valdosta Lights

Valdosta, Ga., February 29.—Judge W. E. Thomas, of the Lowndes county superior court, has set March 10 as the date for hearing the petition of the Valdosta Lighting company to surrender its charter and franchise to the state of Georgia.

The Valdosta Lighting company was chartered May 11, 1912, and continued in business until September 29, 1927, when it was bought by the Georgia Power and Light company, a new concern organized for the purpose of taking over the local electric property as well as plants at Waycross and Bainbridge. In addition the new company also owns several hundred miles of hydroelectric transmission lines through north Florida and south Georgia over which current is delivered to a large number of municipalities.

The petition asking for the dissolution of the Valdosta Lighting company is signed by C. B. Zeigler, of Bogota, N. J., a vice president of the company.

Having been closed for first enlistments since the first of November, the United States marine corps Wednesday resumed recruiting on a general scale, it was announced by Captain George W. Spotts, officer in charge of the local marine corps recruiting office.

Owing to the trouble in Nicaragua, the local office has been swamped with applicants seeking active service, but due to the fact that practically all of the marines being discharged during the past four months have been enlisted, there have been vacancies for recruits. With the doors now open to all men who can pass the rigid examination, a brisk business is expected at the South Fourth street office.

FIVE MORE HOLDUPS ADMITTED BY YOUTH

Five additional robberies in Atlanta during the past two weeks were confessed Wednesday, detectives say, by Otis Chalmers, one of three youths indicted Tuesday for the pay roll robbery Saturday of the Southern Bell company.

The other two youths are H. L. Arnsdale and C. Landers, arrested in Jacksonville Sunday with Chalmers and returned to Atlanta, where they are being held in the Fulton county tower in default of $5,000 each.

Robberies Chalmers is said to have confessed included the holdup of a filling station on Fair street and Cherokee avenue, where $60 was obtained; holdup of a second filling station at Lucile avenue and Gordon street, where $20 was rifled from the cash register, both on February 12.

February 17, holdup of an A. & P. store on Spring street which netted $20; the holding of $20 from a filling station at 1127 Ponce de Leon avenue, and the holdup of the Biltmore pharmacy, where the cash register was rifled of $90.

MOTORISTS CROWD CAPITOL'S LOBBIES AFTER AUTO TAGS

Large crowds thronged the halls and lobbies of the state capital Wednesday to purchase 1928 automobile license tags, but due to the extra clerks on duty and to the fact that a one-month extension was granted the congestion this year was not as serious as a year ago.

Today is the last day on which license can be purchased without the imposition of penalties. Those who do not buy tags Thursday must get their licenses approved by the sheriff, who is entitled to collect a fee of $1 for each license application he approves, as announced by Arthur T. Harris, chief clerk of the office of Secretary of State S. G. McLendon.

Preparations have been made to handle the crowds as easily as possible Thursday, according to Mr. Harris. Extra clerks are on duty in all departments to aid in rating cars and to dispose of license tags.

This year is about 40,000 tags ahead of last year at the same date, according to estimates made by Mr. Harris.

FARMERS OF HENRY COUNTY TO PLANT PEPPER THIS YEAR

Locust Grove, Ga., February 29.—(Special.)—The farmers of Henry county are making preparations for the extensive planting of pepper this year, among a number of other new crops.

In this section of the county there is a noticeable tendency on the part of the farmer to engage in dairying as a means of added revenue, and at the present time many farms formerly of the one-horse variety have two or more blooded cows.

March To Bring Many Pupils To Southern Business College

To Attend a "National" Accredited School Seems To Be the Tendency These Times.

"I have read about the Southern Shorthand and Business University having been accredited by the National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools, and I am anxious to take a business course here because of this assurance that the SOUTHERN is one of the best in the entire country."

This was the statement of a new pupil on entering the Southern this week.

It is a safe step when a prospective pupil enrolls at a business school which has been accredited by the National Association, because he knows that he is going to get a good course in business—he knows that such a school has been investigated by business educators of worldwide reputation, and he knows that it will give him prestige to say that he obtained his business education at an institution which has been accredited by the NATIONAL.

Don't forget that eight out of every ten business men in Atlanta recommend the Southern to those inquiring for a real good school.

Visit and look through this old established institution when school is in session and you will attend it in preference to any other in this part of the country.

"Send catalog to . . . He wants a business course and I told him that the Southern is the best in the South, because I attended it and know."

LEADING GROWERS SEEK REHEARING ON PEACH RATES

Ten prominent Georgia peach growers will leave Atlanta Sunday for Washington to seek a rehearing of the recent decision of the commission relative to the revision of freight rates on peaches, it was announced Wednesday at the office of the commissioner of agriculture.

Suggestions were made by United States Senators Walter F. George and William J. Harris that a small delegation of Georgia citizens go to Washington to appear before the commission to seek a rehearing. Under the proposed scale of rates the shippers will pay from $100,000 to $300,000 more money in freight rates this season than last, according to the size of the crop.

Those in the party who will go to Washington are J. D. Duke, Fort Valley; A. J. Evans, Fort Valley; B. J. Breckmann, Augusta; W. M. Scott, Fort Valley; J. S. Peters, Manchester; W. C. Dewley, Macon; F. H. Arnold, Newnan; W. O. Britt, Thomasville; P. W. Godfrey, Covington; and C. J. Hood, Commerce.

OFFICERS CATCH AUTO, 60 GALLONS IN LIVELY CHASE

En route to Fulton tower late Tuesday night with two prisoners, County Policemen E. H. Hughes and Al Stovall detoured from their objective long enough to run down a suspicious car and arrest D. E. Roper, of Alpharetta, in alleged possession of 60 gallons of whiskey in an automobile. It was reported Wednesday. Roper's bond was placed at $500.

Officers Hughes and Stovall reported that they pursued the alleged liquor car along Piedmont avenue to Ellis street, where the driver abandoned the car and was caught after a brief chase by Officer Hughes.

March 10 Is Set For Hearing Petition On Valdosta Lights

Valdosta, Ga., February 29.—Judge W. E. Thomas, of the Lowndes county superior court, has set March 10 as the date for hearing the petition of the Valdosta Lighting company to surrender its charter and franchise to the state of Georgia.

The Valdosta Lighting company was chartered May 11, 1912, and continued in business until September 23, 1927, when it was bought by the Georgia Power and Light company, a new concern organized for the purpose of taking over the local electric property as well as plants at Waycross and Bainbridge. In addition the new company also owns several hundred miles of hydroelectric transmission lines through north Florida and south Georgia over which current is delivered to a large number of municipalities.

The petition asking for the dissolution of the Valdosta Lighting company is signed by C. B. Zeigler, of Bogota, N. J., a vice president of the company.

Pilot Chamberlin To Make Three Addresses Here

Details of the program for the visit to Atlanta next Tuesday of Clarence D. Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic aviator, were discussed Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of committee chairmen at the chamber of commerce, and arrangements completed for three addresses to be delivered by the famous flier.

Chamberlin will arrive early Tuesday morning at Candler field, flying in his "Hivester" airplane, which is capable of lighting on a baseball diamond or almost any open space with a hundred yards of runway. He was willing to alight at Piedmont park or any field which might be offered, but the committee believed that the official airport of the city should be used.

The flier will be met at the field by representatives of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, the Atlanta chapter of the National Aeronautical association, the city council and the flying school of the Georgia School of Technology. He will be taken to the Atlanta-Biltmore hotel for a short rest.

FLOOD CONTROL ISSUE.

It is gratifying that President Coolidge has modified his original views on flood control legislation.
It would be infinitely unfair to expect the people along the lower Mississippi valley to pay any considerable part of the expense.It is clearly a federal obligation to protect the people from losses from the overflowing of navigable rivers, the channels of which are owned by the government and controlled by the war department.The modified views of the president are that the financing of flood control projects shall be undertaken entirely by the government, but that in time, when the fortunes of the sufferers have been rehabilitated that some plan shall be provided that a reasonable "aid" from them shall be restored to the government.The president favors a commission to work out all plans, including methods of and participation in financing, to report to congress a year hence.As submitted to congress the Jadwin draft of flood control legislation authorizes an appropriation of $260,960,000 as opposed to $290,000,000 in the original engineers' recommendation, and $473-000,000 provided in the Reid house bill, which has received the approval of the house committee on flood control.Authority for the directing and carrying out of the flood control program under the Jadwin draft is vested in the secretary of war, the corps of engineers and the Mississippi river commission.The Reid bill put the direction under an agency to be appointed by the president and known as the Mississippi river valley flood control commission, but under the supervision of the department of war, which would supersede both the Mississippi river commission and the corps of engineers in carrying out the work, except where the president deemed it advisable to the use of the corps of engineers to supplement the work of the valley commission.The original recommendation for payment of the cost of the construction and other works necessary to control the river at certain levels from the mouth of the Ohio to the gulf suggested a ratio of 80 per cent to be borne by the federal government and 20 per cent by the interested states and localities. The Reid bill adopts and stands on the principle that the entire cost be defrayed by the federal government.
It is probable that a satisfactory compromise may be arrived at. The point is, the work should be expedited, and the issue should be entirely divorced from politics.

CANDLER FIELD "GYPSIES."

The announcements that the New York-Atlanta air mail service will begin in six weeks, and that the postoffice department has advertised for bids for a Chicago-Atlanta air mail service, direct attention again to the forward step that Atlanta took three years ago in providing a landing field, and in gradually perfecting it to meet standard requirements.Cooperation between the city and county authorities has been responsible for the good work that has been accomplished. There is much yet to be done, however, and the work should not stop, or even be halted, until Atlanta, as an air port, with every facility, shall rank with the finest and best equipped airports in the country.In the meantime there should be a more rigid regulation of Candler field. It is at present more of a circus ground for gypsy flying, at so much per flight, than anything else.It is not our suggestion that these "passenger charge" planes be barred, but there should be a strict licensing and inspecting system.
Every Tom, Dick and Harry who owns and pilots junk-junk planes that cannot stand the tests of thedepartment of commerce inspection should not be permitted to operate from the field. The fact is, there should be a federal inspector located at the field.The toll of life from flying has been entirely too heavy recently.
Some of those who have gone down to tragic death have been seasoned pilots. But evidently there has been entirely too much disposition to trust faulty motors, or to negotiate new lanes without proper navigation experience, or with imperfect instruments.Experienced aviators, who have been scientifically trained, will bear testimony to the fact that most of the air accidents are entirely avoidable, and occur either from taking chances that are unwise, many of them indefensible.The tragedy at the recent Macon air derby undoubtedly could have been avoided. A plane not built for bombing should not be used for that purpose, nor should a pilot or assistant not sufficiently experienced in handling bombs be permitted to do so.Candler field has had its accidents. Possibly it will have others.
But every precaution should be taken to avoid them, and to protect the lives of pilots and passengers.Commercial aviation is an infant industry. It will grow more rapidly each year, forced ahead by an ever increasing momentum. All the greater is the reason that every precaution should be taken to minimize the perils as much as is humanly possible.

THE PISTOL'S TRAGIC PATH.

The people of Atlanta, and of Georgia generally, have been recently impressed, perhaps more than ever before, of the wake of tragedy that follows the "ever-ready pistol."
In the news dispatches of the week the following appears under a Folkston date line:"Walking into a hardware store and asking to be shown a revolver, Robert Price, of Douglas, inserted a round of cartridges, turned the gun against his heart and pulled the trigger yesterday, according to witnesses in the store. He died without explaining his act."Why should pistols be sold?
They are instruments manufactured for the one and only purpose of killing human beings. They are not sold for hunting wild game in the forests.Some one may say they are sold for "protection," but statistics show that the individuals who do not carry pistols—the carrying of which itself is a violation of law, unless one is licensed to do so as an officer of the law—are the individuals that usually escape injury or death by the pistol in another's hands. There are safer methods for home protection.In the city of Atlanta in the past few days we have seen more than one tragedy that would have been avoided but for the ever-ready pistol.There are federal laws against the transmission of pistols in the mails and in interstate commerce.
Many hardware stores, wholesale and retail, refuse to handle them.
They do not financially suffer by such a humane policy in merchandising.The Constitution long since refused to carry advertisements offering pistols for sale.The "pistol-carrying" problem has been before the legislatures of every state in the union. Most of them have made such weapons contraband. The laws are violated in many cases. It is violated in Georgia. But that is no excuse for lax enforcement. It is something to think about—and seriously.

FOR PASSENGER PROTECTION.

The Georgia public service commission is to be commended for promulgating a strict rule against the operation of passenger-carrying motor busses by drivers who drink liquor "either off or on duty."
Other rules include one requiring tested ability of drivers, and another requiring the carrying of indemnity insurance by operating companies.
The rule requiring a mechanic's inspection of each vehicle between trips is also commendable.Any motor vehicle is a peril on the highways when it is driven by one who is drinking, or whose hand is unsteady from the effects of having previously been drinking.In the case of a passenger bus their size and weight add to the perils of collision, and the fact that many lives are entrusted to the driver's caution and ability makes such a ruling as that adopted absolutely imperative in the interest of conserving human life.Seven automobiles mired in the mud or ditched on a three-mile stretch of Georgia's "completed" roads is an argument for road bonds and a county-seat-to-county-seat road program.From recent senate proceedings it looks as if harmony in the democratic party is maintained by a lack of harmony.The census scandal in New York will be aired and show how many were working for Mrs. Knapp and how many were working the state.A versatile politician is one who

WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Marguerite's Cravat.Friends of Victor Marguerite, the author who was scratched from the list of membership of the Legion of Honor, have started a movement to reintegrate him in the order. The youngest commander of the legion, M.
Pierre Mortier, is taking the lead. "I will never cease to protest against the vengeance of which Marguerite has been the victim," he writes and he suggests that the famous novelist was not struck out because of the war, but works he produced, but for his book
"The Criminals," in which he charged
M. Poincaré with being partly responsible for the outbreak of the war.
"What good is it to come back to it all," writes M. Marguerite in "La Rumeur," "I have begun to forget the whole affair. I have begun to breathe more freely since the cravat of a commander of the Legion of Honor no longer chokes me." But his friends will not listen to his protests. "The government cannot strike at the freedom of thought," says another roman-cier, Georges Anquetin. "I personally feel ashamed to wear a decoration that has been taken away from Marguerite because of a book. We have not forgotten the case of Zola and Reinach.
We will not permit the re-integration of Marguerite to be delayed till after his death. It is said that Monsieur Herriot, the man already responsible for the return of Caillaux and Malvy, favors the complete rehabilitation of Victor Marguerite."

Doughbobs.

The Doughbobs have apparently learned the lesson of persecution.
Twenty-five years ago they came to Canada and settled on the prairies in the western provinces. They are members of a Russian sect, half Tolstoyan, an, half communist, in character.
They would have nothing to do with the state, refused to be drafted into military service, and refused to be taxed. The czar permitted them to emigrate "en masse." They are now the Soviet government has begun pourparlers with a view to induce the Doughbobs to return home. They were promised freedom in the exercise of their religious practices and a fine piece of land to colonize. The Russian economists hope the Doughbobs will also bring their own agricultural machinery if they do return. But the latter are not in the least hurried.
They have asked first whether the treatment of Trotsky must be taken as an indication of the measure of freedom of opinion that awaits them in Russia. And as to the bolshevik assurance that it is no longer a czarist government that rules they have simply replied: "But your regime is a government just the same!"The Dutch Cuisine.The Hollanders are indebted to Leon Daudet for a "magisterial" new book by that versatile author on the delights of their country. Daudet has been in exile in going up and down Belgium and the Netherlands, lecturing on French literature, though rigidly abstaining of all public political propaganda. His daily fulminations against the republican regime in France in the royalist paper Action Francaise continue unabated in virlute and bitterness. It is surprising that no action is taken against him, the more since at the close of a series of new articles on the death of his son Philippe, Daudet has appeared in the Netherlands, and has been definitely linked with Poincaré's brother-in-law, M. Lannes, with what he considers an assassination.
Daudet's book on Holland, Daudet, is a little gem, and a welcome addition to the collection of the "délégation cuisine hollandaise" and comes to the conclusion that it is far superior to the French diet. It is fortunate that such an observation comes from a Frenchman. Others have at times complacently proclaimed the excellence of the Dutch cuisine, but popular imagination proved too strong an obstacle to be overcome. M. Daudet has at times been a little over the top in his praise of the Dutch. He is an interesting writer, and his book is a welcome addition to the collection of the "délégation cuisine hollandaise".

Washington, February 29.—(AP)—The senate Teapot Dome committee will reopen its inquiry tomorrow into the financial affairs of the extinct Continental Trading Company of Canada for the purpose of hearing two witnesses—William Wallace, Jr., of New York, counsel for William Boyce Thompson, and George Chandler, of Philadelphia, who has been associated with the prosecution of the cases arising out of the naval oil leases.

THE KNOWS BEST

Your wife is right about the Steinway

Your wife is the true maker of your home, and she is right in asking that her piano be, if possible, a Steinway.

She has more than the judgment of the world's supreme musicians to guide her in this. She has the ripened judgment of most discriminating women who preside over the thoughtfully-equipped homes of the land.

The Steinway piano has much more than the simple approval of these serious home-makers. It has their deep-founded love. It is doubtful if any other manufactured article inspires the positive love of its owner as does a well-made musical instrument—above all, a Steinway piano.

MEETING OF SCHOOL PLANS IS POSTPONED

Adjustment of differences of the Atlanta city council, the bond commission and the board of education over completion of the Bass and O'Keefe junior high schools in accordance with original plans must await a meeting of conference committees representing the three bodies on March 12, it was announced Wednesday.

A meeting scheduled for tonight will not be held because of the absence from the city of George Powell, president of the board of education, and John T. Hancock, both members of the conference group from the board.

AGED WOMEN DIE AS FIRE DESTROYS OLD FOLKS' HOME

Several women were rescued from second and third-story windows by firemen.

Lafayette, Ind., February 29.—(AP)—Court officials today denied that game warden indictment had been returned yesterday, charging Samuel Baxter and John Burns with first degree murder in connection with the deaths of Deputy Sheriff John P. The grand jury is still investigating the deaths of the deputies whose bodies were found near Foster, Ind., nine days after they had started to take Baxter and Burns to the state reformatory to serve sentences for robbery. Baxter and Burns have never been found.

FLOOD CURB BILL GOES TO SENATE

engage the services of the coast and geologic survey, the geological survey and other mapping agencies of the government, and provides that the project shall be prosecuted by the Mississippi river commission under direct supervision of the army chief of engineers.

The Jones bill confines itself to the adoption of the Jadin plan in the following language: "That the project for the flood control of the Mississippi river and its tributaries be carried out in accordance with the engineering plan set forth and recommended in the report submitted by the chief of engineers to the secretary of war dated December 1, 1927, and printed in house document No. 50, seventieth congress, first session, is hereby adopted and authorized to be presented under the direction of the secretary of war and the supervision of the chief of engineers."

The house suggested by the president and recommended by the committee would be directed to consider the engineering differences between the details of the adopted project and those recommended by the Mississippi river commission. It is provided that after such decision upon all matters considered by the commission would be followed in carrying out the project.

Principal features of the administration as reported by General Jadin, relating to engineering, call for the widening of the Mississippi river for protection of the city of Cairo, Ill., construction of a floodway through the Atchafalaya basin for diversion of waters south of the mouth of the Arkansas river, and construction of a spillway to Bonnet to care for the protection of New Orleans. The plan also contemplates strengthening and rebuilding levees all along the river from Cairo to the Gulf of Mexico.

The legislation recommended to the senate today provides that if any district is unable to contribute the one-third of the cost of building the levees to the 1911 standard, as recommended, the secretary of war may proceed with the work upon receiving satisfactory assurances of future payment by local interests.

This does not apply to so-called guide levees along floodways, which the United States shall acquire. Local communities also will be required to maintain all flood control works after completion, except controlling and regulating spillway structures, including special relief levees. A fund of $200,000 is authorized in the bill for emergency purposes to be used by the secretary of war in the work of the repair and maintenance of any flood control work on any tributaries of the Mississippi river below Cairo threatened or destroyed by flood.

The diversion of the Mississippi river's flood waters into its old natural course was discussed today on the house floor by Representative Quinn, democrat, Mississippi. He said the hemming in of the river through levees had subjected the east side of the river to flood waters that side is higher than the west side.

Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, the democratic floor leader, declared that the levees and reclamation had caused the land on the east bank to be washed away by the river's current.

Quinn urged that the federal government compensate the land owners on the east bank for the washed away land. Chairman Snell, of the house rules committee, interposed that this would not be legal.

DIRIGIBLE FLOORED SAFELY TO TENDER

Washington, February 29.—(United News)—Battling headwinds on the first leg of its return flight to the harbor at Lakehurst, N. J., the navy dirigible Los Angeles was moored to night to the tender Patoka in Guannacabo bay, Cuba, after a 25-hour nonstop flight from France, Panama, Canal Zone, the navy department announced.

Officials said late today the dirigible would probably remain in Cuban waters until late this week. The giant German-built dirigible, built by France, was seen at 10:15 a. m. yesterday and turned its blunt nose north by northeast toward Cuba, and the Patoka, whence it was originally headed after taking off from Lakehurst Sunday morning. Instead it completed a 2,250-mile nonstop flight from the hangar to Colon, Canal Zone.

The Los Angeles arrived in the vicinity of Guannacabo bay at about 11 o'clock according to radio dispatches to the navy department. It was anchored to the Patoka two hours after cruising about.

There were reports following the huge lighter-than-air craft's take off from France that it might attempt a return nonstop flight to Lakehurst, but the navy department, through its navy radio station, "essels" for part of its 25-hour flight Guannacabo bay, these were dismissed when Commander C. E. Rosenbloom, U. S. Navy, said the dirigible was moored to the Patoka.

HOPE ABANDONED FOR LOST FLIERS

Commander Ellyson never joined the air service, but was flying Monday from Norfolk to Annapolis, where his year-old daughter lay ill. Mrs. Ellyson is a sister of Sir Glenn, famous aviator.

SEARCH FOR BODY OF FLYER FAILES

Melbourne, Fla., February 29.—(AP)—Hope of finding the body of Harry Brooks, Detroit aviator whose Ford "Flirer" plane plunged into the sea here late Saturday, was virtually abandoned tonight by officials of the Ford Motor company.

"There is nothing we can do now," Sam E. Baker said tonight before leaving for Fort Lauderdale. "We have done all we can and will just wait and let things take their course."

R. S. Southern, Ford representative at Jacksonville, who, with Mr. Baker, is supervising the search, announced today that he will return to Jacksonville tomorrow.

The two seaplanes from Miami made their last search of the waters off shore today and tomorrow will return to their stations. Returning from a long search this afternoon, the pilots reported seeing a large school of sharks, numbering several hundred, playing up and down the coast a few hundred yards off shore and that the only other objects they sighted in the choppy surface of the ocean was sea weed.

FISHERMAN REPORT RENEWS HOPE

Norfolk, Va., February 29.—(AP)—A fisherman's report of an airplane flying low with a skipping motor, then suddenly seemed to stop near Horn Harbor, 40 miles north of here, brought a concentration in that vicinity today of air and water forces searching for Commander T. G. Ellyson and his two companions, missing since early Monday morning.

Irving Huidobro, the fisherman, Lieutenant Clyde Smith that he heard the plane over Horn harbor about 2:20 o'clock Monday morning, a short time after Commander Ellyson, Lieutenant Rogers Ranshousen and Lieutenant Commander Hugo Schmidt started for Annapolis in their amphibian plane. The fisherman said the abandonment of other search plans and orders for a search by land and sea in the vicinity of the harbor.

Navy officials were also interested in an "oil slick" on the waters of the bay near Horn harbor, which was investigated by a tug without success. It was pointed out that an "oil slick" would probably be above the plane and it fallen into the water.

Hope of finding the fliers alive diminished as plans after the plan of the two score sweeping the bay reported.

U. S.-FRENCH PACT READY FOR SENATE

are continuance in force of the Bryan reconciliation treaty with France; however, the committee plans to submit its ratification resolution to the senate in such form will make that point clear beyond doubt.

The change is acceptable to the state department and presumably to the French government since the new pact was negotiated with the purpose of employing both the conciliation and arbitration machinery in the new agreement. In order to clarify the senate's satisfaction with the national aspects of the conciliation treaty's status, however, an exchange of notes between the two governments specifically stating that there has been no abrogation of the treaty of the conciliation pact will be initiated by the state department.

The arbitration now awaiting senate action has no connection with the exchanges between Secretary Kellogg and the French government over the possibilities of a secret pact devoted exclusively to the reconciliation between the signatory powers of war as an agency of national policy. French reluctance to follow the American proposals for a six-power anti-war pact instead of the bilateral Franco-American pact suggested by Foreign Minister Briand has indisputably deferred action on that project.

DIRIGIBLE FLOORED SAFELY TO TENDER

Washington, February 29.—(United News)—Battling headwinds on the first leg of its return flight to the harbor at Lakehurst, N. J., the navy dirigible Los Angeles was moored to night to the tender Patoka in Guannacabo bay, Cuba, after a 25-hour nonstop flight from France, Panama, Canal Zone, the navy department announced.

Officials said late today the dirigible would probably remain in Cuban waters until late this week. The giant German-built dirigible, built by France, was seen at 10:15 a. m. yesterday and turned its blunt nose north by northeast toward Cuba, and the Patoka, whence it was originally headed after taking off from Lakehurst Sunday morning. Instead it completed a 2,250-mile nonstop flight from the hangar to Colon, Canal Zone.

The Los Angeles arrived in the vicinity of Guannacabo bay at about 11 o'clock according to radio dispatches to the navy department. It was anchored to the Patoka two hours after cruising about.

There were reports following the huge lighter-than-air craft's take off from France that it might attempt a return nonstop flight to Lakehurst, but the navy department, through its navy radio station, "essels" for part of its 25-hour flight Guannacabo bay, these were dismissed when Commander C. E. Rosenbloom, U. S. Navy, said the dirigible was moored to the Patoka.

HOPE ABANDONED FOR LOST FLIERS

lyson and two fliers lost with him in a plane since Monday, it was recalled in Atlanta Wednesday that Mrs. Ellyson, formerly Miss Helen Mildred Glenn, Atlanta, was a close friend of Commander Ellyson in order to keep him out of the aviation service, since married men, at that time, were barred from the service.

Commander Ellyson never joined the air service, but was flying Monday from Norfolk to Annapolis, where his year-old daughter lay ill. Mrs. Ellyson is a sister of Sir Glenn, famous aviator.

SEARCH FOR BODY OF FLYER FAILES

Melbourne, Fla., February 29.—(AP)—Hope of finding the body of Harry Brooks, Detroit aviator whose Ford "Flirer" plane plunged into the sea here late Saturday, was virtually abandoned tonight by officials of the Ford Motor company.

"There is nothing we can do now," Sam E. Baker said tonight before leaving for Fort Lauderdale. "We have done all we can and will just wait and let things take their course."

R. S. Southern, Ford representative at Jacksonville, who, with Mr. Baker, is supervising the search, announced today that he will return to Jacksonville tomorrow.

The two seaplanes from Miami made their last search of the waters off shore today and tomorrow will return to their stations. Returning from a long search this afternoon, the pilots reported seeing a large school of sharks, numbering several hundred, playing up and down the coast a few hundred yards off shore and that the only other objects they sighted in the choppy surface of the ocean was sea weed.

FISHERMAN REPORT RENEWS HOPE

Norfolk, Va., February 29.—(AP)—A fisherman's report of an airplane flying low with a skipping motor, then suddenly seemed to stop near Horn Harbor, 40 miles north of here, brought a concentration in that vicinity today of air and water forces searching for Commander T. G. Ellyson and his two companions, missing since early Monday morning.

Irving Huidobro, the fisherman, Lieutenant Clyde Smith that he heard the plane over Horn harbor about 2:20 o'clock Monday morning, a short time after Commander Ellyson, Lieutenant Rogers Ranshousen and Lieutenant Commander Hugo Schmidt started for Annapolis in their amphibian plane. The fisherman said the abandonment of other search plans and orders for a search by land and sea in the vicinity of the harbor.

Navy officials were also interested in an "oil slick" on the waters of the bay near Horn harbor, which was investigated by a tug without success. It was pointed out that an "oil slick" would probably be above the plane and it fallen into the water.

U. S.-FRENCH PACT READY FOR SENATE

are continuance in force of the Bryan reconciliation treaty with France; however, the committee plans to submit its ratification resolution to the senate in such form will make that point clear beyond doubt.

ATLANTA LEADERS HONOR HALLMAN

quest, it was agreed that, anything outside the pale of levity would be in bad taste.

That this agreement was broken is foregone. "If as they would, the speakers could not seem to keep back the serious-minded type of eulogy, raise for Mr. Hallman peeped from behind his eyes with increasing frequency. The evening came to its climax when Mr. Hallman was presented a beautiful watch as a token of the esteem in which he was held by the committee."

With tears in his eyes and a catch in his voice, Mr. Hallman accepted the watch with the words, "This is the best thing that has ever happened to me, from saying anything except I thank you."

TELEGRAMS ARE RECEIVED

George West of ceremonies. Just before the speeches began, R. S. Barker, secretary of the chamber of commerce, read a number of telegrams received from friends of Colonel F. J. Paxson, who was scheduled to be one of the speakers but who could not attend. Colonel Paxson said, "I know of no one who deserves such a dinner more, nor of anyone whose service to Atlanta has been greater than Henderson Hallman."

Henry Heinz, international president of the Kiwanis clubs, followed. He expressed his deep pleasure at being able to attend such a tribute.

Frederic H. Suesel, president of the Atlanta Kiwanis club, compared Mr. Hallman to the pinch hitters of great ball teams, hitters who are called on to knock the ball out of the lot with the bases full at the crucial moment in an important game. That he said, is Henderson Hallman's part in the civic affairs of Atlanta. "When a job is too big for anybody else, Mr. Hallman is called on and if he can't do it, he somehow gets it done."

John L. Westmoreland, law partner of Mr. Hallman, spent a few moments outlining the great amount of time that Hallman was not in his law offices but out doing some work for the city of Atlanta.

Channing Goss confined himself to humor, recounting the great difficulties he had encountered in his search of files of Atlanta newspapers and at one information point seeking something about Mr. Hallman.

WOODWARD PRAISES GUEST

Colonel J. C. Woodward, chief of staff for Governor L. G. Hardman, said that Mr. Hallman was not to be congratulated for his devotedness to the city of Atlanta, but for his devotion to himself and his family.

Washington, February 29.—(AP)—Material modification of the Butler bill to authorize an appropriation of $34,670,000 for the reconditioning of the battleships Pennsylvania, Arizona, New Mexico, Mississippi and Idaho is expected to be made tomorrow by the house naval committee.

Representative Britten, of Illinois, ranking republican member, said today that he believed the committee would approve only the reconditioning of the Pennsylvania and Arizona at a cost of $14,500,000.

LIBERTY COUNTY AGAINST PICKING OF G. A. DELEGATES

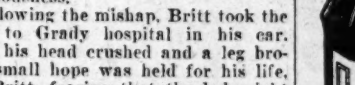

Hinesville, Ga., February 29.—(AP)—Liberty county's democratic executive committee today protested against the rule permitting Senator George to name delegates to the national democratic convention from Georgia. The position was taken that this power should not be delegated to any individual. The committee expressed the highest regard for Senator George as a statesman but thought it a mistake to entrust him with the responsibility of selecting delegates to the convention.

YOUR CHANCE TO WIN $1,500.00

Second Prize

TRIPLER ELEPHANT GAME

$1,500.00 First Prize

$1,000.00 Second Prize

$500.00 Third Prize

A Grand Total of 30 Cash Awards

THE PROBLEM

The sums total of the figures on each of the three elephants pictured herewith are to be given as a solution. You can find the sum total of each elephant by adding up the figures of each. The figures 1, 2, and 3 in the circles in the upper left hand corners of the elephants are simply to identify them. These figures have nothing to do with the elephants' weights.

In submitting your solution you must identify the three elephants by their numbers and give the weights of each. A complete solution means that you are to find the sum total of each elephant. It takes the sum total of each to make one solution. This is a game of skill and not a guessing contest.

There are no "1's" or "0's" in the elephants. There are no groups of figures, that is, the figure "9" is the highest figure shown. There are no "2's," "5's" or "9's," or like groups. If you find a "2" and a "3" are written so closely together that it looks like "23," it means that "2" and "3" are to be added—just as you would if they were an inch apart.

There are no figures in the picture except in the bodies of the elephants. The tops of the "6's" are distinctly curved, and the bottom of the "9's" are straight or nearly so. There is no trick or illusion in the charts.

GENERAL RULES OF THE CONTEST

1. This contest is open only to residents of Georgia and adjoining states. Both old and new subscribers may enter. No employee or member of an employee's family of The Atlanta Constitution will be allowed to participate in the contest, nor any of the prize winners that have won prizes in excess of $100.00 in any of the elephant contests heretofore conducted by The Atlanta Constitution.

2. Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they may desire, provided a payment of one of the amounts designated in the prize list shall accompany each solution, but no contestant will be permitted to win more than one prize. Once registered a solution cannot be changed. NO SOLUTION UNACCOMPANIED BY A SUBSCRIPTION PAYMENT WILL BE REGISTERED.

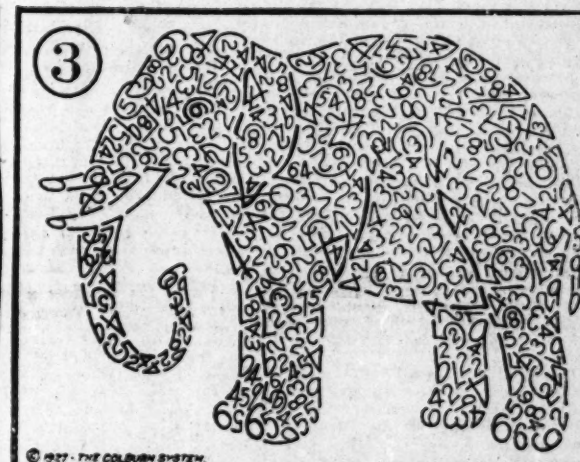

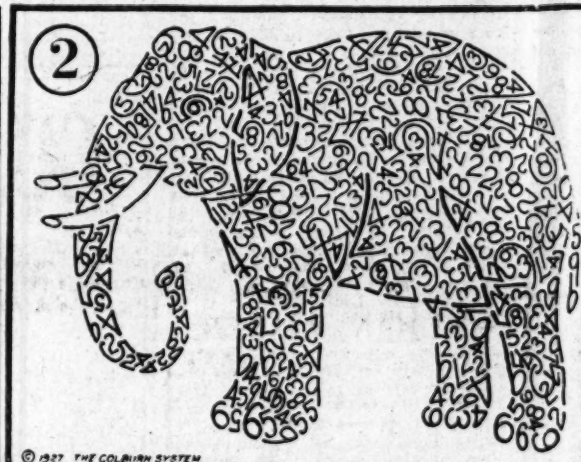

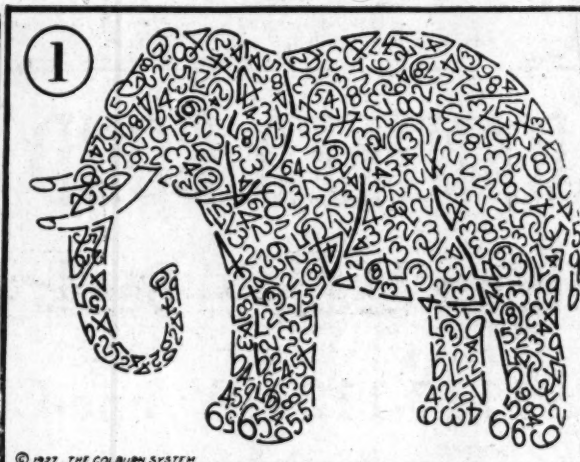

3. The Atlanta Constitution offers these prizes for individual effort. While it is proper for members of one household or several friends to work together, it is not permissible for more than one of those working in unison to send a solution of the puzzle. When, in the judgment of the contest manager or The Atlanta Constitution, more than one member of the same family or more than one of any number of persons he believes have worked together, send in a solution of the puzzle, the right is reserved to refund the amount of money paid for subscription and return the solution, it is believed has been submitted contrary to the rules.

4. The Atlanta Constitution reserves the right at any time to reject any solution which it believes has not been submitted under the proper conditions. In other words, any group of persons working together and submitting more than one solution, all submitted by the group will be barred. The Atlanta Constitution also reserves the right to finally decide any other questions or points which may arise in this contest, and participants by sending in their answers agree to accept the decisions of the contest manager of The Atlanta Constitution as conclusive and final.

5. In case of ties, as many prizes will be reserved as there are people tied before any prizes are awarded for a less correct solution; that is, if two or more people should tie in the best solution, the first two or more prizes will be reserved for them, and they will be awarded in order of the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle. That is, the best solution will be awarded the first prize, the next best second, and the third best third prize, etc.

6. All solutions with remittances must be delivered to the office of The Atlanta Constitution by 6:00 p. m., Thursday, March 29, 1928, or mailed at any post office in Georgia or adjoining states, bearing postmark of no later date than March 29.

7. The subscription rate of the daily and Sunday Constitution is $5.00 for six months, $9.50 for twelve months. All subscriptions in this contest must be paid in advance. Nothing less than six months' subscription will be accepted, and not more than twelve months' subscription is required. A subscription can be sent to one person and the solution credited to another, but the complete address of both must be given in each instance. This contest begins Thursday, February 9, and ends Thursday, March 29, 1928.

Patience and Persistence are the only requisites in winning one of the 30 big awards.

All renewal subscriptions will be extended for the time paid for beginning with the present paid date of the expiration of subscription. In towns outside of Atlanta where The Constitution has carrier delivery service, the paper may be delivered by carrier upon request of the subscriber or the contestant. Otherwise, the paper will be sent by mail.

How to Win $1,500.00

To enter this contest it is necessary to send but one paid-in-advance subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution for six months with $5.00, but you can increase the amount of the prize money that you will receive if you are a winner. For instance, with a $5.00 remittance and six months' subscription, should you win first prize the amount paid would be $500.00, but if the winner of first prize has qualified with a remittance of $9.50 for twelve months' subscription, the prize will be $1,500.00 instead of $500.00.

$500.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize provided one six months' subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution with $5.00 remittance is sent, new or renewal, $250.00 for second prize, $125.00 for third prize, etc.

$1,500.00 instead of $500.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize provided one yearly subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution is sent with $9.50, either new or renewal; second prize, $1,000.00; third prize, $500.00, etc. See last column in prize list. All subscriptions in this contest must be paid in advance.

In case of ties, a second puzzle, like the accompanying chart, except larger, will be presented for those tied to solve. The problem will consist of drawing a continuous chain across the chart encircling the figures in the circles. If necessary to eliminate further ties, the puzzle, with combinations changed, should any ties exist, each tying contestant will receive the full amount of any prizes tied for.

In case there are no ties on counting elephants no other puzzle, of course, will be presented.

Applicants should give name in full, state age and occupation, and when a beneficiary is given be sure to state full Christian name and relationship to the insured.

Here Is The Great Prize List

Note: The value of the prize depends on how much you pay on your subscription with your solution in the triplet elephant game. The amount paid will be applied to the daily and Sunday Constitution: Daily only or tri-weekly subscriptions not accepted in this contest, and no solution will be registered unless accompanied by at least $5.00 for six months' subscription. The least amount is $5.00 for six months' subscription, or the largest amount required is $9.50 for twelve months' subscription.

Both the solution and subscription must be sent in at the same time in same envelope.

	Prize if 6 mos. sub. new or renewal with $5.00 is sent.	Prize if 12 mos. sub. new or renewal with $9.50 is sent.
First Prize	$500.00	$1,500.00
Second Prize	250.00	1,000.00
Third Prize	125.00	500.00
Fourth Prize	75.00	250.00
Fifth Prize	40.00	100.00
Sixth Prize	20.00	50.00
Seventh to Thirtieth Prizes	5.00	25.00
Total	$1,130.00	$4,000.00

Important Facts To Remember

While the amount you pay with a solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning an award, it does affect the amount you will receive should you win, as the value of these awards is determined by what the winners submit in subscription money. This is explained in the awards list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution. The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning an award. Accuracy is what counts. Not more than one award will be awarded to any one person.

All the ladies vie for honors for a thriller of a ride
When the captivating Connoisseur is sitting up as guide,
And although he's rather timorous, he has the best of luck
And he never once has let a full toboggan run amuck.

Now the ladies, full of energy, of vigor and of vim
In ascending want to lend a little helping hand to him,
And they're dressed so very sensibly and seem so full of pep
That he lets them take the rope in hand and caper into step.

And it's very hard for Van de View to keep the right direction
When he's occupied in looking at the rosy-red complexion,
Of the girl who wears the lumberjack's close beside his side
And he looks in admiration that he doesn't try to hide.

And another makes a bet that she can pull it all alone,
And the Connoisseur is helping with a sympathetic groan
While he compliments her silently upon her girlish grace,
The becoming suit she's wearing and the smile upon her face.

The Pleasantest Way to Reduce

Institute on Citizenship Held in Fifth District

That women want to know more about government was evidenced by the large attendance Wednesday at the citizenship institute of the fifth district. Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs at the Atlanta Woman's club when the meeting overflowed into the adjoining hall, all the counties of the district being represented but one. A splendid program had been arranged by Mrs. J. D. Evans, chairman of citizenship, and Mrs. R. L. Turman, chairman of citizenship training of the fifth district. Mrs. Turman presided and all phases of county government were covered by the speakers.

In the fifth district with five counties is only as large as Burke county in the first district. But it holds 11 per cent of the state's population and 27 per cent of its property. The speakers took up the government of Fulton county and questioned which had been sent to DeKalb, Rockdale, Campbell and Douglas and answered by club women from these counties. Mrs. Branch of our paper, in a talk on the scope and importance of county government W. Colquitt Carter gave a comprehensive survey of what he characterized as the most important of the duties of our government, which he likened to a private corporation organized for the primary gain of the stockholders. He outlined the county organization and gave the duties and functions of each office and committee. Speaking of the importance of the work of women in American politics, Mr. Carter urged a well sustained campaign in better government with a study of civic welfare and local politics.

Mrs. Richardson Speaks.
Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, director for the general federation, brought a message from Mrs. Sherrill, president of the general federation, that officers in civic government and in clubs be chosen for ability and not personality.

Mrs. H. K. Rambo, speaking on "The Peace-Time Slacker," stated the women present did not come under that category but they could take a message to those who did, that the women who do not vote are an insurance company.

Mrs. Z. V. Peterson, former member of the Atlanta board of education, and Mrs. Baynard Williamson, president fifth district P. T. A., spoke on county education. Mrs. Williamson stated efforts now being made to have a county unit system of schools to include Atlanta and the county schools a school district it was thought would be successful. Fulton County High ranks first in the state as to building and equipment and second to Girls' High, Atlanta, in scholarship.

Dr. Winchester, from the state board of health, gave figures and charts that showed the reduction in infant mortality, typhoid, diphtheria and physical defects in children in DeKalb county by its health campaign for the past four years. Dr. Winchester will visit any club and talk on public health.

County Needs.
Frank Miller presented the county needs as seen from the Community Chest and spoke of the interlocking of the character building organizations, as the Boy and Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and Junior Red Cross, with other work of the chest. He called attention to the fact that poverty and unemployment increased sickness.

Miss Rhoda Kaufman, secretary of the board of public welfare, urged the necessity for at least one trained social worker in each county who would combine the duties of attendance officer, probation officer and taking care of dependent families. She urged preventive work for delinquents and dependent children and the elimination of wholesale blind remedies.

Miss Ada Woolfolk, secretary of the Family Welfare society, stated that intelligence was needed behind the budgeting of both private and public funds.

The comprehensive health surveys made of Fulton county by Mrs. Charles Goodman and of DeKalb by Mrs. Young have been highly commended by the state board of health. They will be sent to the journal of the general federation of women's clubs at Houston in June and will be printed and distributed in the respective counties by an insurance company.

How an Expectant Mother Prepared for Baby's Coming

IT has been proven conclusively that much of the suffering experienced during expectancy, as well as at childbirth, is entirely unnecessary. Tight tissues, binding muscles, sensitive nerves—all tend to set up an aggravated condition—sapping strength and leaving the expectant mother unprepared to meet the crisis.

Mother's Friend is a comfort to expectant mothers. Externally applied, it relieves pre-natal distress by relaxing tight tissues and muscles. And it is so soothing. Its daily use makes the skin soft and pliable.

Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., writes: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

Mother's Friend is the discovery of an eminent physician. It contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. For over three generations Mother's Friend has relieved expectant mothers of much useless suffering. Begin using Mother's Friend today. The sooner the better. Sold by drug stores—everywhere.

Gibson-Randall Wedding Is Of Wide Social Interest

St. Petersburg, Fla., February 29. In an exquisite setting of palms and flowers with the heavy scent of orange blossoms filling the air, Miss Dorothy Gibson became the bride of Charles DeSaussure Randall Saturday morning at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Gibson, 4815 Garden avenue.

Dr. S. W. Walker, pastor of the First Methodist church, read the marriage service before an improvised altar in front of the mantel, which was banked with orange blossoms. Asparagus fern formed a lacy shower from the mantel to the floor and sprays of orange blossoms were caught at intervals. Baskets of gladioli in shades of pink and rose and vases of pink sweetpeas made a beautiful background for the bride, who entered with her father, Lawrence Gibson.

Preceding the ceremony a program of wedding music was given by Mrs. A. Sanford, violinist; Mrs. Fletcher Davis, soprano; and Mrs. Jack Corey, pianist. "Because" and "Oh, Promise Me" were sung and during the ceremony MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose" was played softly.

Tillman Blakey, of Griffin, Ga., served as best man, entering with the groom.

Dorothy Mill, Miss Tilton and Captain and Mrs. Maxwell G. Keeler.

Major and Mrs. Ralph C. Holliday and their attractive children, Dorothy Ann, Ralph, Jr., John and Bill, arrived on Tuesday evening from California for station at Fort McPherson. The Hollidays motored from Camp Lewis, stopping at Los Angeles, Colif., and Houston, Texas, for visits with relatives en route.

The prologue will feature Homer Marlock and G. W. Lamb, in tap dancing. Prizes to the winners of the winning P. T. A. in the recent attendance contest, in which a large number of schools have been keenly interested through their better film chairman, will be made.

The matinee committee, Mrs. H. G. Parks, chairman; Mrs. Morton Rollstone, prologue chairman; and Mrs. John G. Courtney, chaperon chairman, will be assisted by the Boy and Girl Scouts and members of the P. T. A. division. The matinee starts at 2:30 o'clock. Admission is 10 and 25 cents. Nurse maids are admitted.

Preceding the benefit bridge Major and Mrs. Nelson Mott entertained most informally Tuesday evening at a chop suey supper at their quarters. Their guests for the evening were Miss Florence Blanchfield, Miss

The lovely bride was beautifully gowned in an ensemble costume of rose beige, applique in two tones of beige trimming the blouse and coat. A close-fitting hat of crocheted straw harmonized with the suit and shoes of a darker shade were worn. Her shoulder corsage was of salmon tea roses and valley lilies.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall left immediately after the ceremony for Palm Beach and Miami, Fla., and will then go to Griffin, Ga., where they will make their home.

Mrs. Randall is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence E. Gibson, formerly of Georgetown, Ga. Her mother, who was Miss Florence Danner, is a descendant on her maternal side of the Goodes, of Virginia. Mrs. Randall received her education at the Peace institute, of Raleigh, N. C., and has a wide circle of friends throughout the south who will be interested in her marriage.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Randall, of Atlanta, who met the bride at the marriage being Miss Mary DeSaussure, of Charleston, S. C., a name prominently associated with the history of the state. His father is from Connecticut. Mr. Randall was educated in Atlanta and immediately after leaving school served two years in the A. E. F. in France.

High Blood Pressure Due to Constipation and Biliousness

High blood pressure is both functional and organic, often produced by over-eating or mental strain, while constipation and biliousness are both underlying causes. In either case, Alerxos, through a process of elimination, thoroughly cleanses the system of its impurities and tends to reduce pressure in the veins and arteries by carrying out, through the intestinal tract, excess water in the system which the sweat glands have failed to secrete.

After the first dose or two of Alerxos you note a decided improvement in reduced blood pressure, also in your general health. Because Alerxos, in one action, more poison bile from the system than any other known formula, leaving you buoyant, vivacious and alert. Alerxos also alkalizes the system and thoroughly cleanses it of the poisons that cause auto-intoxication. Ask any one who has tried it. Your druggist has Alerxos; if not, send direct upon receipt of price, 60c and $1.00. Crystal Carbonic Laboratory, Dept. 35, Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

I HAVE SAID IN MY HEART

BY IDAH M'GLONE GIBSON.

A PERFECTLY HUMAN BANKER.

The bright young banker—I am sure he was young—who invented the words "Your Christmas Savings Account," knew human nature as well as he did the banking business.

Very few Americans will save for the mere sake of piling up dollars. There is no romance in that—and Americans are the most romantic people on earth. But they will save for an object that will give them happiness.

To have a snug sum to spend on those one loves will cause many acts of economy that nothing else will do.

These Christmas savings have come to be a yearly account that reaches into millions of dollars in most of the big banks in the larger cities and towns.

I dropped into a bank this week. I do this occasionally just to keep in touch with financial affairs and make my overdrafts good.

The cashier was telling one of his customers that their "Christmas savings accounts would be twenty-five per cent more this year than last."

"How much of last year's Christmas savings were spent for Christmas presents?" I inquired.

"About forty per cent," he answered. "We can promise ourselves that twenty per cent will at the end of the year be applied on debts and forty per cent will be re-invested in bonds or placed in the bank until some other good interest bearing stock can be bought below par."

"It is very probable that not ninety-nine per cent of these people would start a savings account without the object of Christmas pleasures behind it, but having stated it one year with the idea that they can take their money out and have some pleasure at the end of the year they start a habit of systematic saving that most of them will keep up all their lives."

Just then a very pretty girl came into the bank and added $2.50 to her Christmas savings.

"I never had a savings account before, for going without and putting money by for an old age that may never come, never appealed to me," she said. "But to put it by for the sake of making some one happy and being happy myself is all to the good, is it not?"

Memo: Again I see the young banker who inaugurated "Christmas Savings" was clever. I am going to try it—next year.

DIET AND HEALTH

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Candy.

Mrs. R. writes that she believes that good candy has a legitimate place in our list of foods, and she would like my opinion on the subject.

Good candy—I do not know, Mrs. R. I'm almost beginning to think that there is no such thing as good candy; that is, speaking from a health standpoint, not a taste standpoint.

Candy is so apt to engender the sugar habit. For children and adults who can be content with a small amount, say as part of the dessert, or even between meals, it is all right; but certainly candies made of nuts, dried fruits and honey and molasses are not only good energy foods—and by energy I mean not in the ordinary sense of producing activities, but of supplying the fuel for activity—but they do contain protein and some mineral elements. These candies, of course, we could recommend. Candies that are made of white sugar contain nothing but the fuel value.

Unfortunately, those who like candy the most are usually the ones who need it least. Excess candy eating, with excess other sweets and bread, is probably responsible for more overweight than anything else. And overweight is so frequently the forerunner of diabetes, kidney disease, stomach troubles, and other troubles no end.

It is estimated that over $5,000,000 was spent for candy in the United States in 1924. (McCollum.) If this were spent by only those who need extra energy food—the physical workers, not the sedentary, and children who get their needs of proper growth foods first—it would be all right. But it is not. Most of the candy is consumed by those who do not need it and who are actually injured by it.

Now here's my opinion: If candy can occupy its right position in the diet, it is good, but if it doesn't we'll have to condemn it. Personally, I wish there never was such a thing invented.

Hemorrhoids.

Hemorrhoids (piles) are really varicose veins of the rectum, caused by the obstruction to the hemorrhoidal vein. They may occur during pregnancy, due to the enlarged uterus, or to other things that obstruct the vessels.

There are three varieties—the external, internal and the mixed, which is a combination of the first two. The external hemorrhoids are covered by the skin, while the internal hemorrhoids are covered by the mucous membrane. The external ones do not give hemorrhages, unless they rupture.

The home treatment during the acute attack recommended by Dr. Costa is to lie in bed as much as possible and keep the part clean by frequent washing with warm water and apply hamamelis (witch hazel) to them. After the acute symptoms are gone, apply zinc ointment. Kellogg advises to insert after a movement a tampon made of cotton or gauze smeared with some antiseptic ointment to make the hemorrhoids stay in and hold the medication; this is left in until the next movement.

We have an article on Varicose Veins which those of you who are interested may have by sending a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope and two cents in coin with your request.

Tomorrow: Answers to Correspondents.

Editor's Note: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column, in turn. Requests for articles must be accompanied by a way of self-addressed stamped envelope and two cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling. For the pamphlet on reducing and gaining, ten cents in coin with fully self-addressed, stamped envelope must be enclosed. Address Dr. Peters in care of The Constitution.

California Takes Over Sobering-Up Station at Border

San Diego, Calif., February 29.—(P)

The state of California today took over control of the "sobering up" station at the international border between San Diego and Tijuana.

The "sobering up" station is a retreat where American visitors returning from the Mexican resort may be "interned" for a few hours so they will be in condition to drive their automobiles. For several years it was maintained by San Diego county, which was forced to abandon it because of lack of funds. Under the new arrangement the state will maintain two "inspectors" there and will meet all expenses of operation while the county will maintain the buildings.

The station is equipped with a cell for those who resist detention.

When the condition of drivers is such that a few hours in detention will not clear their senses they are to be taken to San Diego for more prolonged recuperation, as will others who are not in condition to drive by the time the border closes at night. The state will maintain guards for their automobiles at the border station.

MOTION PICTURES FOR UNFORTUNATES FREE OF CHARGE

Washington, February 29.—(P)—Up-to-date motion pictures are provided by the great producer organizations without charge every week to 250,000 unfortunate at hospitals, prisons and other such institutions, a senate committee was told today by C. C. Pettijohn, opening the case of the producers against the Brookhart bill to prohibit block and blind buying of films.

"The men in prisons want open air pictures," he said. "They want to see Tom Mix on his horse. Old folks at their homes for old people, want love scenes. Rudolph Valentino was their darling. They want to turn back in their lives."

Pettijohn said pictures were given even to the far-away leper colony in the Hawaiian islands. "Prints were sent them to keep, he said, and a considerable collection had been built up there."

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS
A Happy Fright.

A fright that leaves you feeling glad is hardly to be classed as bad.

—Old Mother Nature.

So you see there are good frights and bad frights. We usually think of frights as being bad, but you will find that not infrequently frights end happily. If you doubt this just ask Whitefoot the Wood Mouse; he knows.

You know Whitefoot had gone back to the Green Forest in search of Mrs. Whitefoot. He didn't know exactly where to look for her, but he suspected she would be somewhere around the place where he had last seen her, before he was caught by Black Pussy the Cat and carried up to Farmer Brown's. It hadn't occurred to Whitefoot to think that anything might have happened to her. Now it suddenly popped into his head that she might have been caught by some one other than Black Pussy.

"She may have been caught by Black Pussy or she may have been caught by Reddy Fox or Hooty the Owl or Old Man Coyote or Shadow the Weasel or Yowler the Bobcat. She may have been caught by any one of these and I wouldn't know it. No, sir, I wouldn't know it about it. Oh, dear, I do hope that nothing of the kind has happened! Why, I wouldn't know what to do without Mrs. Whitefoot."

It appeared that Whitefoot had quite forgotten that he had been living for some time without Mrs. Whitefoot. The more he thought about it the more dismay filled his heart. He began to hurry faster than ever. He was so worried for fear he wouldn't be able to find Mrs. Whitefoot that he quite forgot the possible dangers which might be awaiting him. I believe that if Reddy Fox had been around that Whitefoot would have run right into his mouth without seeing him. That is what worry will do to people.

Suddenly Whitefoot sat up and listened. Those little round ears of his are very sharp. They heard a sound back of him. It sounded very much like the very faint scratch of tiny toes on the crusty snow. It seemed to Whitefoot that his heart jumped right up in his throat. It didn't, because it couldn't. But that is the way it seemed. Perhaps you have had a sudden fright and so know just how Whitefoot felt. His first and only thought was of Shadow the Weasel. He wanted only to make sure that he hadn't been mistaken in the sound. There it was again! You couldn't have heard it. "I couldn't have heard it," But Whitefoot heard it! He didn't wait to see what was coming. Away he went! Fortunately he was not very far from a certain tree, a dead tree, which was an old home of Downy the Woodpecker. Whitefoot had used that hole in the tree more than once. He made for it now. He didn't know where else to go. If that were Shadow behind him there wasn't much hope. Shadow could go anywhere that Whitefoot could go.

Up the tree he fled and popped in at the little round entrance. Then, with his heart thumping until it seemed as if it would thump its way right out, he waited. He didn't have to wait long. No, sir, he didn't have to wait long! Almost at once he heard the sound of sharp little claws in wood. Some one was climbing up that tree just as fast as he had climbed. It must be Shadow the Weasel! Whitefoot was filled with terror. He shook all over. Those claws were coming nearer and nearer. They were right up at the entrance now. Whitefoot held his breath. His eyes were fixed on the little round opening. A shadow darkened it. "I-I guess this is the end of me," thought Whitefoot.

And right then a sharp, squeaky little voice demanded, "Why are you running away from me, Whitefoot?" It was the voice of Mrs. Whitefoot. Such a relief as Whitefoot felt! The Wood Mouse felt! His terrible fright gave way to a great gladness.

Whitefoot was filled with terror. He shook all over. Those claws were coming nearer and nearer. They were right up at the entrance now. Whitefoot held his breath. His eyes were fixed on the little round opening. A shadow darkened it. "I-I guess this is the end of me," thought Whitefoot.

And right then a sharp, squeaky little voice demanded, "Why are you running away from me, Whitefoot?" It was the voice of Mrs. Whitefoot. Such a relief as Whitefoot felt! The Wood Mouse felt! His terrible fright gave way to a great gladness.

JUGGERNAUT

By Alice Campbell

SYNOPSIS

Roger, a young nurse, having accompanied an invalid from the United States to Cannes on the Riviera is about to return to New York when she sees an advertisement in the paper for a nurse and doctor's assistant and she decides to apply for the job in order to spend a little time in Cannes.

While waiting for an answer to her application to Dr. Sartorius Roger treats herself to the at the fashionable restaurant des Amuseurs. She becomes interested in the conversation of a beautiful French woman and her escort, an Englishman, who sit at the next table. On returning to her hotel Roger finds a note from the doctor asking her to report in the morning.

The beautiful French woman of the restaurant comes to see Dr. Sartorius and Roger learns that she is Lady Clifford. A few days later her husband, Sir Charles Clifford, is stricken with typhoid fever and Dr. Sartorius gives up his practice and laboratory work to devote himself exclusively to Dr. Clifford. Roger is taken on the case as day nurse. Roger Clifford, Sir Charles' only son, by a previous marriage, arrives in Cannes. He is attracted to Roger.

Sir Charles tells Roger that he has changed his will to the extent of making him executor and trustee of his whole estate.

INSTALLMENT XXVIII. AN OPEN WINDOW.

Ever and again as Roger went about her evening duties she saw before her the picture of that cigarette with the scarlet tip. It floated before her vision, punctuating her thoughts. She wished she had never seen it, that she had been spared the knowledge that was hers. After all, she was not concerned with Lady Clifford's love affairs, she would rather not know about them. Now, however, she could not get the matter out of her mind.

Roger, too, she thought, was brooding over something. Was it the same thing? There was something troubling him, evidently, for after dinner he moved restlessly about, unable to sit quiet for more than two minutes at a time.

"I'm afraid you're finding it very dull, dear," Miss Clifford said to him as for the fourth time he wandered out of the drawing room and back again. "Isn't there some one you could ring up?"

He shook his head and, gravely penitent, fitted a record into the gramophone. In another second the air was penetrated by Galli-Curci's birdlike trills. Esther laid down her patience cards and listened with delight. Once or twice she noticed that Roger's somber gaze rested on her with interest, and she was feminine enough to wonder if he thought she looked new in the little winnowed frock she had put on. It was such a relief to get out of her stiff uniform that she always managed to change for dinner when there was sufficient time.

Roger was admiring her, as a matter of fact. He was thinking, as she sat there on a low stool, one foot curled under her, that she looked absurdly young, hardly more than a little girl. He believed she could, on occasions be frivolous, too, gay without being silly, as he put it. So few girls could achieve that. . . . Tentatively he changed the record, setting on a fox trot from the newest London success. He liked the sparkle in her eyes, and the way her slender foot tapped the floor.

"Do you like dancing?" he demanded abruptly.

"Do I not?"

"Then I'll tell you what we'll do. Tomorrow evening we'll run down to the Casino for dinner and dance a bit. Would you care to?"

"It would be heavenly! But do I dare?"

She glanced at Miss Clifford.

Why on earth not, my dear? When you're off duty surely your time's your own. I should certainly go. It will do you good. You needn't stay very late if you're afraid of over-sleeping in the morning."

"Well, then, I will," Esther promised simply, her eyes shining with pleasure.

"Good girl! We'll have a regular bonno. We both need it."

His depression had lightened, and by the time the exhilarating tune came to an end he was himself again.

In the seclusion of her room that night Esther took out of the wardrobe her best new evening gown, bought in Paris, and examined it with satisfaction. She had worn it only once! It had been a present from Miss Ferris, who had allowed her to choose from a tempting collection at a very good dressmaker's in the Faubourg St. Honore. Layers of filmy chiffon, peach colored, it presented a delicate, bluish picture as she spread it out on the bed. It was extremely smart as well as becoming, and what Roger can woman want?

"It is adorable," she sighed glancingly as she fingered the delicate mass. "What luck to have it, here where there are no more smart dresses! How glad I am I decided on this color!"

She spent half an hour manicuring her nails, and then, still feeling wide awake, decided on a bath. The bathroom was situated between her room and the doctor's. On entering it she found it as usual so stifling hot that she was obliged to throw open the casement window and let the cool, moist air steal into the room. For several minutes she leaned out, breathing in the night odors of the dark garden. With them came another odor that was familiar, the acrid pungent smell of the doctor's tobacco. By it she could tell that he, too, had his window open; he was probably sitting close to it and reading and smoking.

Somewhere near at hand a door opened and closed again. Before she could decide what door it was she heard the low rumble of the doctor's voice addressing some one.

"Well," she heard him say somewhat brusquely. "What is it now?"

It was the tone one might employ to a rather tiresome child, exasperated, even rude. She found herself listening idly, wondering who it was who had come into his room. A second later, with a slight shock, she recognized the unmistakable tones of Lady Clifford. Again, as on a former occasion, she was puzzled to know how it was the doctor spoke to her in so peremptory and ill-mannered a fashion. She could not catch the words of the Frenchwoman, but the doctor's reply was clearly audible.

"That was wrong of you," he was saying. "I distinctly told you not to try, if I did not succeed for you. Besides, I am sure you exaggerate the importance of it."

Lady Clifford's next speech, uttered in a querulous tone, was distinguishable, from which Esther concluded she had come closer to the window.

"But I tell you I must know the truth! I cannot rest until I find out. Something warns me he has done something. . . . damnable!"

"You will know soon enough."

"But when I know it will be too late!"

"Rubbish. How did this idea come to you?"

"I will tell you," the woman's voice was eager, important. "In January, when we were in Paris, he went to see Hamilton, his English solicitor. I thought nothing of it at the time, but a few days ago something he said to me, something that I am afraid—he had altered his will in some way that concerns me. I don't know what he may have done. He is capable of anything, anything! I tell you I am terrified!"

Esther, by the bathroom window, nodded to herself with satisfaction at the confirmation of her theory. So it had been the will Lady Clifford was trying to see! Matters were clearing up. She heard Sartorius say skeptically:

"Don't be a fool! Even if he has made some change is there any reason for thinking it affects you? Go back to your room, this is neither the time nor the place for these conferences. I have told you that before."

There was a faint murmured protest, then again the doctor's voice heavy and intolerant:

"Good God, woman, what possible difference can he make, or anyone else for that matter? You appear to overlook the fact that all is being done for your husband that can be done. There is not the slightest cause for alarm."

Another murmur, longer than before, then in a slightly modified tone, though still dictatorial:

"I see no reason why you shouldn't sleep, but if you insist I will give you something. . . . Here, one powder, not more, or I'll not be answerable for the consequences. . . . And, remember, don't come here again. If you want me send your maid for me Good night."

There was the faint sound of the door closing, then silence. Esther shut the window, cautiously, for she did not like her neighbor to suspect he had been overheard, and turned on her bath.

Exactly why she minded his knowing was not clear to her. There had certainly been nothing wrong in the conversation in the next room. It was the doctor's manner towards his employee that was strange far more than what he said. She found herself puzzling about it after she was in bed.

Tech High, Marist and Fulton Lose Openers at Macon

U.S.B., B.H.S. Only Atlanta Teams To Win

Gate City Entries See Rough Going in G. I. A. A. Tourney Openers.

Auditorium, Macon, Ga., February 29.—(AP)—The second round of the third annual G. I. A. A. basketball tournament, following the elimination of nine teams today, will get under way at the municipal auditorium here tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock when Savannah High school plays Griffin High.

The eight teams surviving the opening round of the preparatory school classic of Georgia were Savannah High, Griffin High, U. S. B., Riverside, Lanier, Barnesville A. & M., Gordon Institute and Boys' High School.

Today's Games.

Thursday's schedule, which will determine the four teams meeting in the semi-final round are as follows:

Savannah High vs. Griffin High at 4 p. m.; U. S. B. vs. Riverside, 5 p. m.; Lanier High vs. Barnesville A. & M., 8 o'clock, and Gordon Institute vs. Boys' High School at 9 o'clock.

The results of today's games are as follows:

G. M. C. 28; Monroe A. & M. 12. Griffin High 22; Marist 16. Barnesville A. & M. 30; Fulton High 40; Atlanta 25. U. S. B. 35; Lanier High 38; Locust Grove Institute 15.

Boys' High, Atlanta, 32; Clarksville A. & M. 22. Gordon 40; Norman Institute 26. Savannah High 31; Tech High 29. Lanier High 43; G. M. C. 18. U. S. B. 38; Columbus High 25.

Thrilling Game.

By far the outstanding game of today as far as thrills and exciting play were concerned was the Savannah-Tech High battle. The Smithies led throughout most of the first half, but the Savannah team pulled a sensational rally near the middle of the second period to win. Tech, Savannah center, scored 17 points to lead his team to victory, while Jackson, guard, tallied 10 points.

For Tech High the long shots of Chandler, guard, featured, he getting 11 points. Mott, Smith, forward, scored seven points during his stay in the game before he was relieved by Terrell. Stearns did some good work at guard.

Following the Savannah-Tech High game the Lanier Poets, of Macon, last year's champions, had a relatively easy time defeating Mrs. L. G. Morris, of New York, in the quarter-finals today, 6-3 and 6-4.

With the exception of Mrs. Morris other seeded stars went into the semi-finals.

Miss Eleanor Goss, New York, fifth ranking feminine net star of the country, won handily from Miss Edna Brokaw, New York, in straight sets, 6-3 and 6-2. Miss Clara Cassel, New York, defending titleholder, defeated Miss Barbara Phipps, of Rosslyn, L. I., 6-1 and 6-0, while Mrs. B. F. Stenz, New York, runner-up in the tourney last year, advanced to the semi-finals period through a 6-2, 6-0 defeat of Miss Gertrude Conway, New York.

Play in the doubles matches started today. Miss Goss and Miss Choate defeated Mrs. W. J. Southam and Mrs. A. V. Young, of New York, and Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Stenz, doubles winners last year, won two love sets from Mrs. A. Sidenberg and Mrs. T. Prince, also of New York.

JOHN MCGRAW VISITS ATLANTA

Well, folks, as that mutely manhandled saying goes, it won't be long now. For those who were at the Terminal station Wednesday afternoon and saw the above persons walking from the train shed could just hear the crack of horsehide and willow and the shouts of a fan-ridden umpire ringing in their ears—because the above pictures are none other than the leading baseball figures in the east and in Atlanta. On the left is Bert Niehoff, pilot of our Crackers, while next to John McGraw himself is none other than John McGraw himself with his wife, who passed through Atlanta yesterday en route to Augusta, training camp of the Giants. Left Jackson Spiller, boss of the local horsehide wallowers, is shown on Mrs. McGraw's right. Jim Tierney, secretary of the New York club, is next.

MAYSON SEES GOOD BATTLE FOR MALONE

Mickey Malone, who stared on his feet throughout a 10-round boxing exhibition with Jack Dempsey a few years ago, will offer stubborn resistance to K. O. Billy Dugan in their 10-round match at the Ringside boxing arena Friday night, or else Matchmaker Jimmy Mayson will be a disappointed man.

"They tell me this Malone can both give and take plenty of punishment," the matchmaker explained yesterday, when he dropped around to put in a boost for his card. "That makes him an ideal opponent for Dugan, who is no slouch when it comes to socking and who is willing to take a couple to land one good one."

Atlanta fans, at least those who saw Dugan flatten Pug Avera, of Fort McPherson, at the Ringside last week, are of the opinion that he is even better than he used to be in the old days, when he fought frequently and successfully at the city auditorium.

This is the third of a series of heavyweight shows at the Ringside and the big boys have been packing in more people than the lighter lads, hence Mayson expects another capacity crowd Friday night.

The complete card follows: Semi-windup, eight rounds, Battling Stein vs. Freddie Boorde. Preliminary, six rounds, Jack Crowley vs. Eddie Norton.

Preliminary, six rounds, Jackie Ferranza vs. Al Haygood. Preliminary, four rounds, E. I. Pruitt vs. Young Trowbridge.

Malcewicz Forfeits Match to Strangler

Kansas City, February 29.—(AP)—Joe Malcewicz, the Ute Panther, forfeited his wrestling match to Ed ("Strangler") Lewis, heavyweight champion, here tonight after Lewis had gained the first fall in one hour and 50 minutes. It was announced from the ring that Malcewicz had suffered a torn ligament in the left shoulder and was unable to continue the match.

Jawn Is Silent On Rajah Deal; Boosts Bucs

Giant Pilot Stops in Atlanta While on Way to Augusta.

BY BEN COTHMAN.

John J. McGraw came to town Wednesday to have lunch with Colonel R. J. Spiller.

Mr. McGraw, you know, is manager of the New York Giants. He was accompanied by Mrs. McGraw and Jim Tierney, Giant secretary. He was herding a flock of pitching and catching candidates for the club from Hot Springs, Ark., to Augusta, Ga., where the Giants will train this spring.

A three-hour stopover was allowed here. Accordingly Colonel Spiller and Bert Niehoff, when they heard this, grabbed their hats and tore out to the Terminal station to greet the silver-haired maestro of the diamond. No business transpired, if it did no one has found it out yet.

Tells Little.

Mr. McGraw, upon interrogation by sports scribes, said a lot, but yet he didn't tell anything.

Two subjects were rather touchy ones with Mr. McGraw. You guessed the first one. He did say that Francis Hogan was a good catcher. Hogan came to the Giants in that famous Hornsby deal. The other subject upon which Mr. McGraw didn't like to discuss—and wouldn't—was Ty Cobb.

"The experts can let us buy Cobb if they wish. I'm quite sure I don't know anything about it."

The Hogan-Welsh-Hornsby affair was an "out-and-out trade."

"The advantage of such action may not show up this year. But by next season the fans will see just where the Giants profited by the transaction. I believe that Welsh is one of the best young outfielders in the country today. Hogan is a good catching prospect. He has shown me that at Hot Springs. Rest assured that both these boys will see plenty of action with the Giants this season."

Boosts Pirates.

"What's the National league situation? Well, the club that beats the Pirates will win the flag this year. I hope that club will be the Giants. We're working towards that end. The club will be good, with Cuyler giving them strength. And don't count the Cards out. It'll be a tight race all the way around."

So now the silver-haired Giant mentor has come down, aired his opinion on several things, and this morning is in Augusta.

The Giants may not finish at the top this year, but if they don't it probably won't be John J. McGraw's fault.

FIVE FIGHTS ON RING CARD FRIDAY NIGHT

Your money's worth.

That's the motto of old Kid Davis, who is promoting the boxing entertainment at the Strand park Friday evening, a show that has over 40 pounds of boxing with the cream of local colored talent listed among the participants.

Three ten-round bouts, an eight-round affair and a short preliminary make up his card. Featuring the show Cecil Flowers, brother of the late Tiger, and Benny Williams are in the main go. Roy Dunn vs. Jack Kennon is the semi-windup, while Kid Macon and Tiger Brown mingle in another ten-round scrap.

Tex King vs. Earl Hitting Wright make it 38 rounds of scheduled milling, while Lightning Howard, rather jubilant over his last knockout victory, will meet Battling Parks.

Hooper Stages Show.

At the same time Billy Hooper is planning his show for the colored Elks rest on next Monday evening. Thus far he has matched two unusually good negro fighters for the main go, while he has in mind and is expecting to get a host of others for the preliminaries.

Herbert Moore, a long, lanky chet from East Point, must do his stuff against Charley King for ten rounds. That's the main thing. And it's a good one, too. King is the boy that gave Eddie Cook a lacing in three rounds not so far back and is a tough baby.

Moore has fought such foes as Cliff Jones, Willie Sims, King Solomon, Battling Mims, Billy Hooper, Happy Hunter and has been a sparring partner to the late Tiger Flowers.

Virginia Van Wie In Semi-Finals

Ormond Beach, Fla., February 29. (United News.)—Miss Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, will meet Miss Harriet Ellison, Boston, and Miss Beatrice Gottle, Olinville, N. J., will meet Miss Virginia Forrest, Boston, in the semi-finals of the women's South Atlantic golf tournament here Thursday.

Miss Van Wie eliminated Miss Lillian Holland, Great Neck, N. J., 6 and 5, in their match today. Miss Forrest defeated Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Detroit, 3 and 2, and Miss Ellison eliminated Mrs. F. M. Sloan, of Chicago, two up. Miss Gottle eliminated Mrs. George Chalmers, Cleveland, Ohio, 3 and 2.

Low Scorers Tie.

Clearwater, Fla., February 29.—(AP)—Johnny Dawson, of Chicago, and Harold Ingersoll, of Colorado Springs, were tied with a 75 for medalist in the midseason amateur tournament of the Clearwater Country club here today. They will play off the tie following the tournament match play.

Palm Beach Tennis.

Palm Beach, Fla., February 29.—(AP)—In the doubles matches for the women's tennis championship of Florida, played on the Royal Poinciana courts this afternoon, Eleanor Goss, New York, and Elizabeth Choate, Boston, defeated Mrs. W. LOCATING A CHALLENGER.

The survivor, if any, who gets a shot at Gene Tunney's coronet will also get a shot at something between a million and two million dollars.

That alone would make the case an interesting one in this highly commercial age. Maybe all ages have been commercial, but there has at last been no let-down in this one.

It is partly for this reason that the meeting between Jack Delaney and Tom Heeney has aroused much chatter up and down the line.

There are three things that can happen in regard to the heavyweight situation:

1—That Delaney wins decisively.

2—That Heeney wins decisively.

3—That neither makes a good showing and so passes out of the picture, so far as Tunney is concerned.

With all his gristly power as a promoter Tex Rickard will never be able to steam up any battle of the century between Tunney and a challenging flop.

Naming a Winner.

If Delaney or Heeney wins by a close margin, especially through a knockout, part of the problem will be solved.

But if they put on another Sharkey-Heeney stew where neither man can beat, and in this way any headway Rickard will be up against trouble.

He can still look for some hope from the Sharkey-Rickard meeting, but Sharkey will have to show an 80 per cent jump to start any clamor for a Tunney duel.

Any one who can size up Jack Delaney in advance is a rare prophet. Heeney is easier to locate. He is an experienced ring man with his share of skill and stamina and courage and experience. He is only a puncher and so far there has been no great crowd appeal to his stuff.

He is the type, however, that only a close man can beat, and in this way is better equipped as a trial horse than an actual challenger.

Delaney's case is different. He has shown rare possibilities at various times and complete reversals at others. At times he has shown enough to stand out as one of the most logical of all challengers. At other times he has been a double-jointed flop.

He has been the most in and out of all the in-and-outers, but at least he has class, style, skill and a dangerous right hand—and he has the magnetism which gets over to the mob.

Any one who can say what a fighter of this type will do is merely expressing a hope or announcing a guess. But it would be a great thing for both Rickard and Tunney if he nailed Heeney on the chin and stood by to hear ten counted. This isn't likely to happen, but there is always the chance with so much mule power as Delaney has in his right-hand kick.

It is one quality that has kept him in as a possible challenger.

Lack of Punchers.

Rickard is in desperate need of a heavyweight puncher—some one who can cap and make it stick.

Any one who believes Rickard can put on a million-dollar show with Tunney matched against a clever boxer who can't hit is on the simple side. The big guarantee Tunney will demand, or has been promised, in his next two eliminations result in close finishes with all parties concerned still poised upon their feet. He will take a large number of words to get the public steamed up into any great rush for tickets—and the public is pretty easy to steam. But there are times when it knows what it wants, or thinks it knows.

Today's Golf Lesson.

How many golfers walk into a bunker, plant their feet firmly, lighten their grip a trifle, pick out the right spot back of the ball and then use their wrists as much as possible in whipping the niblick head through the sand?

Not many. Most of those who enter bunkers are whipped before they take a stroke. Their minds are tense with anxiety and the forebodings of trouble. This tenseness goes to the body and usually results in a tighter grip and a more hurried backswing. Bunker play is hard to the majority because bunker play calls for more relaxation than any other sport and nature gets less.

A lighter grip gets more play into the wrists and lessens the chance of a fast, unfinished back swing. It is something to think of, for if one doesn't think about it the exact opposite will take place. It is a habit to be formed, otherwise it will be overlooked or forgotten in the mental stampede that so often accompanies a trip into the sand's depths of a far from divine despair.

Sigma Nu, S.A.E. Survive Openers

BY ROGER PAGE.

The Sigma Nu and S. A. E. fraternities at Georgia Tech survived the first round of the interfraternity basketball tournament Wednesday afternoon on the Jockey's court.

In the first game of the day's pairings, the Sigma Nu's outpointed the Chi Phi five, 18 to 6, in a somewhat slow affair. Holt and Davidson played a good game for the winners, the latter being high-point man. Lambert and Corrigan did the best work for the Chi Phi club.

The second game was much more interesting and although the S. A. E. men started off like a cyclone, the second half saw the Pi K. A.'s leading for awhile. A last-minute rally saved the Thompson and Harris company from defeat, the score at the end of the game being 21 to 23 in their favor.

Camp and Leigh for the Pi K. A.'s exhibited some wonderful shooting, but their work was hindered by the exceptional good guarding of the S. A. E.'s.

New York, February 29.—(AP)—The age-old axiom of the prize ring—no good little man can beat a good big one—will come in for another test victory or he'll be a draw. Macon Square battle ground tomorrow night at the meeting of Jack Delaney, picturesque French-Canadian with the crushing right hand, and Tom Heeney, of the rock-ribbed, reinforced concrete.

Ring enthusiasts see in the 15-round semifinal of Tex Rickard's elimination tournament only the question of Heeney's ability to absorb the Bridgeport rapier's raking shots. They concede Delaney the ability and punching power to dent the hitherto impenetrable armor of Heeney's sturdy body and rugged chin. The odds today were 7 to 5 on Delaney to win.

However, no real knockdown ever has been scored on the rugged battler from "down-under." With dogged persistence, Heeney has pushed his chin into the most powerful shot of Paulino Uscudun, Jimmy Maloney, Johnny Risko, and even Jack Sharkey. Heeney's hair arms, either pointed out or tucked in, have been a constant reminder of an unpopular decision he lost to Uscudun early in his American invasion.

Delaney has been only moderately successful since vacating the light-heavyweight throne to toss his numbing right hand against heavyweights. Jimmy Maloney checked him with a decision defeat in the garden last winter.

Since then Delaney has sharpened his punching equipment on several lesser heavyweights with much crashing of chins as a result. He crashed Sully Montgomery from the picture with a single right-hand smash a few weeks ago.

Heeney's greatest advantage, aside from unlimited ability to "take it" and still force the going, will be in the weights. Delaney is expected to scale little more than 175 pounds at the New York state athletic commission's offices at 2 p. m. tomorrow, while Heeney probably will weigh over 195 pounds.

Cotton Briefs.

New Orleans, February 29.—The weekly weather and crop summary issued today as a whole was less favorable than expected, the weather being considered too cold. Good rains in Florida and the Carolinas, however, relieved the drought in those sections.

Although reports of increasing unemployment helped to depress cotton prices yesterday, many traders regard the development as bullish, because tending to divert the demand of the masses from silk to cotton as a cheaper fabric.

The improvement of trade in the mill district of England serves to call attention to the fact that Liverpool stock of American cotton is only 547,000 bales against 990,000 bales a year ago.

Despite the reported better demand for spot cotton, sales in the southern market continued small, being only 13,000 bales yesterday against 28,084 bales a year ago. Stocks are much smaller than a year ago, however, and are being firmly held.

Although the Spring demand for cotton goods is reported to be improving there is a renewal of talk of mill curtailment. Despite a considerable reported mill curtailment during January, consumption of raw cotton during that month proved surprisingly heavy. Traders are therefore disposed to discount all curtailment reports.
